of Voluntary Fast and

Indian Nationalists Appeal to All Races to Ask British Action

BOMBAY, India, Sept. 22.—(UP)—The Bombay conference tonight decided to cable the British government urging the immediate withdrawal or suspension of its arbitrary Indian communal settlement to prevent the death of Mahatma Gandhi, nationalist leader.

Gandhi, who started a voluntary fast "unto death" in protest against the settlement, appeared to be willing to cancel his fast if the government consented.

BOMBAY, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Indian Nationalists appealed to all races and communities today to urge Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald to "save India from Disaster" by reaching a compromise that will enable Mahatma Gandhi to end his "fast unto death."

"Gandhi is showing signs of exhaustion. Considering his age and weak health, I fear he will be unable to stand the fast long," said a statement issued by Nationalist Leader Pandit Madan Mohan Malaviya.

Gandhi entered the third day of his fast looking considerably weaker. He appeared famished. His voice was broken. He was placed in bed in the shade of a mango tree outside his cell. He drank frequently from three bottles of water and sodium bicarbonate placed at his bedside.

Gandhi was allowed to receive his personal physician at Yeroda prison, where he began his hunger strike against the British settlement of the Indian communal question after his noon meal Tuesday.

The Mahatma's wife was transferred to Yeroda this morning and allowed to visit her husband. She was sentenced to one year in jail last May.

LOTTERY TICKETS SOLD BY MILLIONS

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—The government showed at the trial of U. S. Senator James J. Davis today that 24,397,360 alleged lottery tickets bearing the names of several hundred lodges of the Loyal Order of Moose, were transported through the mails and in interstate commerce.

Opening the most direct phase of its attempt to show that Davis, dominating force of the Moose, was the planner and backer of supposed lotteries conducted by Moose lodges under the guise of charity balls, the government produced witnesses who said they purchased tickets not with the idea of going to the balls, but to participate in "drawings" for prizes.

GOVERNOR ORDERS GUARDSMEN PATROL OKLAHOMA OIL FIELD

2,000,000 Barrels Of Oil Stolen

Action Taken by Executive
Following Clash; Many Reported Injured

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 22.—(UP)—National guardsmen patrolled the Oklahoma City oil field today at the order of Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray.

The troops were sent to the field, one of the richest oil reserves in the nation, by Murray to prevent asserted oil thefts and "riot and racket."

Murray's action followed clashes between guardsmen and employees of the Wilcox Oil and Gas company. Several workers were injured before the troops dispersed them with the aid of fists, pistol butts and tear gas.

Executives of the company, refusing to recognize a shutdown order, had obtained from the supreme court an order permitting production under a $5000 superceded bond.

Gov. Murray branded the court order a "monstrosity of justice" and ordered it ignored. The clashes between troops and workers resulted.

It was understood the Wilcox company planned to seek a federal court injunction, and if necessary appeal to the United States supreme court.

Col. Cicero Irving Murray, cousin of the governor, was in complete control of the field today.

Rumors of oil theft have been prevalent recently. Col. Murray alleged before the state corporation commission that some 2,000,000 barrels of oil has been stolen from the field this year.

Other charges were made before the commission, and some officials admitted there had been previous violations.

All property in the field, except homes, was subject to the governor's order today. Troopers challenged every person entering the area, and passed only those proving authorized business.

Wells under shut-down orders were watched closely.

GIRL KIDNAPED 18 YEARS AGO MARRIES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Vera Lucille Campbell, 19 year old Los Angeles high school graduate who 18 years ago figured in a sensational kidnapping case, and her husband, Walton Holland, Oakland real estate man, were honeymooning in Agua Caliente today following their wedding here.

The ceremony took place with only the bride's mother and two attendants present, as quietly and unostentatiously as the bride had lived since the incident which brought her nationwide publicity.

Mrs. Holland was alleged to have been kidnaped from her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Campbell, Rice, in San Diego. The child was in the care of a wealthy visitor from the east whose own daughter had died, when both disappeared.

CONVICTED SLAYER TAKEN TO PRISON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Albert Tinnin, convicted with Frank J. Egan of murdering Mrs. Jessie Scott Hughes, was taken from the county jail today and started to Folsom prison as a parole violator.

His sudden removal from the jail came as a surprise to his attorney, Nate Coghlan, who was completing plans for appealing his case.

"I'll try to bring him back here immediately," Coghlan said when he was notified. "He is entitled to be here in connection with the hearing on a certificate of probable cause, for which the court granted a 10 day stay of sentence pending appeal."

HIRAM JOHNSON SLAPS HOOVER DEBT POLICIES

Tells Labor Conclave That Administration Failed to Aid Unemployed

MODESTO, Cal., Sept. 22.—(UP)—Election of officers and consideration of resolutions today were to be the principal business of the California State Federation of Labor, in convention here.

A. W. Hoch, of Los Angeles, president of the Federation for the past two years, was expected to succeed himself. His name was the only one offered in nomination for the post.

Paul Scharenberg, San Francisco, secretary-treasurer since 1909, also was unopposed for re-election.

Foreign debt and relief policies of the Hoover administration were hit by Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, Republican, in his address to the convention.

He charged the administration with failure to aid constructively the unemployed masses, while, at the same time, it extended loans and other aid to banks and railroads.

The administration's foreign loan policy, he declared, points toward eventual cancellation. He charged there was a movement on foot, "carefully concealed from the

YOUTH KILLED AS HE PICKS UP COAL

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(UP)—John Gawlick, 12, was dead today of a bullet from a watchman's gun fired as the boy was surprised picking up coal in the rear of a lumber yard.

The boy, whose widowed mother and three brothers and sisters are unemployed and being fed by the emergency relief commission, had gone to gather a supply of fuel for his mother.

The watchman, John Lechowak, said he fired when the boy started to run instead of halting at his command. Lechowak was held by police who were investigating his story that he fired into the air and that the bullet had been accidentally deflected.

LABOR UNIONS ASK HOOVER'S SUPPORT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UP)—A group of railway union labor leaders today urged President Hoover to support them in their fight against further proposed wage reductions.

The delegation called at the White House and handed the president a lengthy statement of their case. They declared that the depression appeared to have broken on and that they could not accede to railway owners demands for a conference on "further reduction of wages."

Tablecloths Now In For Bad Time

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 22.—(UP)—When he is slated to speak at banquet, Governor Ralph W. Johnson frequently pencils notes on the tablecloth by his plate.

Recently, however, the governor has been embarrassed because he couldn't read the notes without bending over until his nose nearly touched the table.

Today he exhibited two pairs of new spectacles, both equipped with stronger lenses than his old ones.

"One is for everyday use," he explained, "and the other is for reading notes on the tablecloth."

"See," he demonstrated, "I can now see my notes while standing up. With these glasses they look like the headlines of a newspaper."

SPECIAL SERUM PREPARED FOR BORAH'S WIFE

Will Be Rushed by Plane to Boise as Treatment for Parrot Fever

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UP)—The U. S. Public Health service today prepared a special serum for treatment of Mrs. William E. Borah, wife of the senator, who is ill of parrot fever at Boise, Ida.

The serum was to be placed aboard a mail plane leaving here at 5:20 p. m. and Cheyenne, Wyo., in the morning. From Cheyenne it will be hurried on to Boise.

Dr. Ralph Falk, Mrs. Borah's physician, advised the health service yesterday that he had diagnosed her illness as parrot fever, a rare and dangerous malady.

The health service telegraphed instructions for her treatment and immediately began preparing the serum.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 22.—(UP)—Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh, presidential candidate of the Jobless party and nine other members of his national campaign group rested in Albuquerque today.

The party arrived here yesterday, ate a dinner last night which cost the entire group $1.40 and slept in hotel rooms for 50 cents a room.

Stranded in Tucumcari Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, the group finally raised sufficient funds for gasoline to bring its two automobiles across 175 miles of eastern New Mexico arroyos, mountains and desert into Albuquerque.

SIX ESCAPE WHEN FURNACE EXPLODES

ALTADENA, Calif., Sept. 22.—(UP)—The home of George B. Hodgkin was wrecked early today by a terrific explosion, apparently caused by the blast of a gas furnace. Lives of six persons asleep in the residence were endangered.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodgkin, imperiled by the flames which swept through the expensive dwelling, escaped unhurt with their two children, Aveline and Barclay, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Elliott, of Oakland parents of Mrs. Hodgkin.

The force of the blast ripped up floors and tore out sections of the walls in the residence, one of the show places of Altadena.

Damage was estimated at $15,000.

MILLETTE VERDICT ACCIDENTAL DEATH

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 22.—(UP)—Praise for the exceptional beauty of Dorothy Millette, red-haired mystery woman in the life of Paul Bern, was heard at a coroner's inquest here last night, at which a verdict was given that the woman met her death from "asphyxiation by drowning with suicidal intent."

The description of Miss Millette was given by H. L. Karkick of Walnut Grove, who traveled on the same river steamer the morning of September 7 from which she leaped to her death in the Sacramento river.

"I noticed among the passengers what I considered had been a very beautiful woman," said Karkick. "She was stylishly dressed, but appeared nervous and distracted."

RECORDS OF INSULT FIRMS DELVED INTO

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Four assistant states attorneys delved deeper today into records of the Samuel Insull firms, seeking to determine the legality of acts in connection with the collapsed Utilities' Empire.

Much interest centered on the list of 1600 names which was called the "favored list" of stockholders.

One banker, commenting on the secrecy that has surrounded the mysterious list of names, said: "There is no stigma attached to belonging to a syndicate unless it be that of gullibility. Publication of the list would reveal that the syndicate members were in good company."

INDICATES CONDITIONS IMPROVING

Director Cowles Declares
Loans Requests Decline
50 Per Cent Since July

BANKS ADVERTISING

Agricultural Credit Corporations to Make Loans to Livestock Men Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Gardner Cowles, director of the reconstruction finance corporation, said today that improved business conditions were being shown by a decrease in applications for loans from banks, insurance companies and building and loan associations.

Cowles said that the loan applications had decreased about 50 per cent since July 15.

Wilson McCarthy, another R. F. C. director, participating with Cowles in a joint press conference, reported a more encouraging agricultural outlook. Of the decrease in loan applications, McCarthy said: "We are definitely out of the panicky state banking and business have been suffering from for many months."

McCarthy said a number of banks are actively advertising to cattle-men for feed loans.

"These bank advertisements, which started with the corporation's announcement of establishing regional agricultural credit corporations, publicly state that plenty of funds for these loans are available," McCarthy said.

Banks in Kansas City, Omaha and some sections of the northwest were said to be the most active in advertising for feeder loans.

The agricultural credit corporations are expected to make their first loans to livestock men as soon as branch managers return to their districts after a conference here tomorrow. Managers will be named within a few days for corporations being established at Raleigh, N. C., Macon, Ga., Jackson, Miss., Montgomery, Ala., Columbus, O., Louisville, St. Louis, Chicago, Oklahoma City, San Francisco and Phoenix.

Home has been in police service since 1904, serving as chief during the mayoralty of Meredith P. Snyder. He retired on a pension with the rank of captain.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 22.—(To the Editor of The Register.) Well, we are off again at our old trail; we are not supposed to meddle in foreign affairs, so we don't tell Germany she "can't arm," we "advise her not to." Now there is nothing that makes a nation or an individual as mad as to have somebody say, "now this is really none of my business, but I am just advising you."

They never will get anywhere with this disarmament for no nation can tell another nation what they need to defend themselves. That's a personal affair. If I sleep with a gun under my pillow I don't want somebody from across the street to "advise" me that I don't need it.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Negotiations were closed this morning whereby the drum corps will take part in the pageant and all members of the corps are expected to report to the Los Angeles coliseum at 8 p. m. Saturday.

Local Briefs

J. Ross Clark, postmaster of Beverly Hills, and his assistant postmaster, were in Santa Ana yesterday inspecting the local post office and federal building. Work will start in the near future on the construction of a new post-office building in Beverly Hills, and Clark desired to obtain ideas and information concerning the fixtures, furniture and other details of the building.

P. O. CHECKS UP ON CONTENTS OF PACKAGES

Taking its cue from the practice of the walnut houses, the Santa Ana post office today "cracked 100 parcel post packages."

They found the "crack" 20 per cent bad.

At the walnut packing houses, the official cracker reaches into a bin of walnuts and pulls out 100 walnuts. Each walnut is cracked, and recorded as amber, white, mouldy or wormy. The percentages stand for the bin.

Because of the fact that many patrons of the post office seem to disregard the postal rule against enclosing first class messages in parcelpost, the post office decided to open up 100 parcels and see what proportion of the parcels contained first class matter. Record was also made of the parcels that were not properly packed and those not properly marked.

Here is the result: In perfect condition, 80; containing first class messages, 18; improperly packed, 1; not properly marked, 1.

"Under the rules, it became necessary for us to charge full first class rates of three cents an ounce upon each parcel that contained writing," said L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails. "The post office department sent the parcels to their destination, but the persons to whom they went will have to pay postage due amounting altogether to $14.64. This kind of time will be made from time to time in the office here with a view to getting the co-operation of our patrons in maintaining the classification of mails."

Sailor Denies Drunk Driving

Honore Jones, San Diego sailor, pleaded not guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor in the Santa Ana police court today and his trial set for October 6, at 10 a. m.

He is free on bail of $200, made at the time of his arrest last Sunday.

The car Jones is said to have been driving collided with a car driven by John Estes Jr., of 1402 North Bristol street. Mrs. Estes, a passenger in the car at the time, was injured.

S. A. Man Chosen As Secretary Of Laguna Chamber

John Jehle, chairman of a special committee, announced today that A. Cavalli, manager of the merchants' division of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, has signed an agreement to serve as executive secretary of the Laguna Beach Chamber of Commerce, beginning in October.

Cavalli will be introduced to the merchants and other citizens of Laguna Beach at a dinner to be held at Travaglini's cafe in Hotel Laguna next Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. George A. Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce will be one of the principal speakers.

Sumner Crosby, president of the Laguna Beach chamber, will preside.

Cavalli has had 10 years' experience in chamber of commerce work in the east and in New Mexico and has served as publicity director in several states. His father published a trade journal in New York that had an international circulation and Cavalli at one time was head of that organization. He also has had a wide experience in the newspaper advertising field.

TOASTMASTERS TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Santa Ana Toastmasters' club will celebrate its eighth birthday on October 19 with an elaborate program and ladies' night meeting, according to plans announced at last night's meeting of this popular Y. M. C. A. club.

The organization meeting was held on October 15, 1924, with J. P. Baumgartner presiding, as chairman of the educational committee of the Y. M. C. A., and the club has had a continuous existence since that time. From this beginning has grown the whole spread of the Toastmasters idea, culminating in the organization two years ago of Toastmasters International.

Dr. R. O. Grover presided last night as toastmaster, and introduced a program of variety and interest. Dwight Hamilton discussed the treasure ships of the Spanish Main, and traced their bearing on California history. J. L. Hewitt spoke on vacation experiences among the ancient Indian remains in Arizona. B. H. Lawver told of the workings of the stock exchange. R. C. Smedley appealed in behalf of the Wright law, and Wilfred Taylor spoke on "Little Revolutions." E. N. Owen presented a brief review of current topics.

A. G. Green, president, and R. Carson Smith, sergeant-at-arms were named as delegates from the club to the council of Toastmasters International, to be held at Long Beach on October 8.

GOOD INVESTMENT

LIVERPOOL, Eng.—We'll bet every investor wishes he could realize the same amount of profit the Lord Mayor of Liverpool did when he purchased a potato weighing a pound and a half, that was displayed in a store here. He planted it in his garden three seasons ago and, since then has harvested 300 pounds of potatoes from it and its offspring.

S. A. PLAYERS WILL PRESENT MOLNAR PLAY

Frans Molnar's remarkable play, "The Swan," which has attained outstanding success on both the stage and the screen, has been selected for the opening production of Santa Ana Community Players' association, according to announcement made today by the dramatic director, Gladys Simpson Shafer, and the technical director, Mrs. Marshall Harnois, following last night's meeting of the play reading committee in the Burr Shafer home, 1249 South Broadway.

Thomas H. Glenn, chairman, Mrs. Robert Northcross and Mrs. Ernest Crozier Phillips comprise the play reading committee, and meeting with them last night were the two directors, Mrs. Shafer and Mrs. Harnois, to confer on the merits of the various plays suggested. Final choice was unanimous for "The Swan," and for "Androcles and the Lion," a George Bernard Shaw comedy that has sent audiences to paroxysms of laughter ever since it was produced a few years ago.

It is the opinion of the committee that the two plays will offer such decided contrast in entertainment, that they will satisfy the varying tastes of the local theater goers. "The Swan" with its beautiful setting and its high romance, will be presented in Ebell auditorium, November 18 and 19. Work on casting will begin at once, and Mrs. Shafer hopes to have roles assigned and rehearsals underway at an early date.

The dates of February 17 and 18 will bring "Androcles and the Lion" with its typical Shavian humor. Settings for both productions will call for unusual work on the part of the scenery committee, the Molnar play demanding luxurious beauty rising practically to splendor, and the Shaw production requiring among other things, a forest setting that promises to tax the ingenuity of the committee. Burr Shafer, chairman, Derby Wallace, Miss Pearl Campbell, Victor Morrison and Frederick Elliott.

This group will be augmented by members of a sketch class to which Burr Shafer belongs, and who have agreed to cooperate in every manner. They are Miss Jean Goodwin, Miss Frances Egge, Robert Gilbert, Arthur Ames and Douglas Cummings, and a result of the working together of the two artistic groups, is that the Players' association will feature a loan exhibit of the pictures of this group of models, in connection with the annual Southern California tournament of One Act Plays, to be held in Ebell clubhouse in April.

CHICAGO MAN NAMED GRAND ARMY LEADER

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 22.—(UP)—Capt. William P. Wright, Chicago, was unanimously elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the organization's 66th national encampment today.

There was no opposition to Wright's election. Names of others mentioned for the post, Russell C. Martin, Los Angeles, and H. I. Merrill, Wichita, Kan., were not presented, apparently because of overwhelming sentiment for Wright. He succeeds Samuel P. Town, Philadelphia.

Martin was named Senior Vice Commander without opposition when his only opponent, L. C. Coffin, Oklahoma, withdrew.

Further Training Taken By Teacher Of Lip Reading

Ruth Bartlett, who conducted lip reading classes in the adult education department of the city schools last year, will again have charge of the work this year. The class opens at 9:30 a. m. next Monday in the city school administration building, 1012 North Main street.

During the summer Miss Bartlett was a delegate to the annual meeting of the American Federation of Organizations for the Hard of Hearing, from the Orange county league. She acted as chairman for the national lip reading tournament at the convention and again has been appointed to the post for the convention at Chicago next June.

Miss Bartlett also took a post graduate course in the methods of teaching lip reading at the California School of Lip Reading in San Francisco during the summer.

SPECIAL SERUM PREPARED FOR WIFE OF BORAH

Blood for preparation of the serum was given by a health service physician who contracted the disease while making experiments a year ago.

Dr. R. C. Williams, assistant surgeon general of the health service, described the serum as the "most promising treatment" known for parrot fever.

The serum was developed by the health service in its investigations of an outbreak of the strange malady which took 33 lives two years ago. Several health service doctors contracted the disease during the experimentation and one died. When a person has had parrot fever, his blood retains qualities which combat the disease virus. This blood is the primary constituent of the serum.

The serum for Mrs. Borah was made from the blood given by Dr. Charles Armstrong. Similar serum assisted his own recovery from the disease a year ago.

The 1920 outbreak of parrot fever, centering along the eastern seaboard, was the first serious one in this country. In recent months there have been 12 cases in California. A public health service investigator recently returned from the West coast, where he made a preliminary study of the California cases and sought to determine the origin of the outbreak. Public health officials said they hope to obtain funds for a more thorough investigation there.

Psittacosis, or parrot fever, is somewhat similar to severe influenza. Like influenza and infantile paralysis it is believed to be caused by a filterable virus—an organism so small that it cannot be isolated by any methods now known to science.

Parrots are particularly susceptible to psittacosis. Human beings rarely become infected with it except by contact with diseased birds.

FORMAL OPENING OF KELLEY STORE

Large crowds of interested shoppers are expected to be attracted to the new drug store which will be formally opened tomorrow by C. S. Kelley, prominent pioneer druggist, at 108 West Fourth street. Attractive specialties will be offered to the public both tomorrow and Saturday.

After having been in business at the same location on the northeast corner of Fourth and Main streets for the past 30 years, Kelley has moved into the new location.

Kelley, well known to old timers of Santa Ana and Orange county, has been in the drug business here for the past 35 years and has lived here nearly all his life. The move was made because the building where the store was located is being wrecked to make way for a new store building.

R. F. C. NOT WORRIED BY FILING OF SUIT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—(UP)—Members of the legal department of the Reconstruction Finance corporation today expressed little concern over the suit filed in the district supreme court here attempting to restrain the corporation from granting a loan of $40,000,000 to the Metropolitan Water district in Southern California. The loan was authorized by the corporation last week.

The legal department said it made an extensive study of the Metropolitan water loan before it was granted and that it "complies in every way with the specifications of the Reconstruction Finance corporation act."

MYSTERY OF NUDE WOMAN, BLOOD ON ROAD CONFRONTS ORANGE COUNTY DEPUTIES

Mystery—An almost nude woman seen lying in the road.

Blood.

A mysterious car, occupied by a man, nearby.

These were some of the things the sheriff's office knew when officers were called out to Magnolia and Ball roads last night, but when they arrived, the man and woman and the car all had disappeared.

They found blood on the pavement and a woman's hat nearby, but that was all.

Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, who lives at Ball road and Dale avenue, reported to the Anaheim police that a woman had come to her door and informed her that she had seen the woman, partly clad, lying in the road. Mrs. Wilson, with a friend, went to the scene and also saw the woman. Convinced that something was amiss, she called the Anaheim police, who relayed the report to the sheriff's office.

Sheriff's officers were frank to state they did not know what to think of the incident. The number of the car the man was driving was not taken.

ing proposition, however, would permit the legislature to regulate boxing and wrestling, exempt widows or widowed mothers of war veterans from taxation, increase the daily expense for legislative help to $400 for the senate and $450 for the assembly, limit tax liens on property to 30 years, and remove restrictions upon use of the state's half of highway transportation tax revenue.

American people," for another moratorium.

"Unemployment," he said, "has not been stayed. It is true . . . Morgan and company have been bailed out of the sinking Missouri Pacific and other faltering railroads have procured large loans . . . but light have been the purse strings of the government for human relief . . . the masters of our destinies, with myopic vision, see only railroads and banks but their blurred sight cannot see just human beings."

He scored Wall street financiers with bitter sarcasm for "having thoroughly plucked the American people and unloaded for their own profit depreciated and worthless foreign bonds."

The senator urged labor to stand united against cancellation or revision, of European debts.

"The only question," he said, "is whether our debtors shall pay what they justly owe, or whether we shall put it on the backs of our already overburdened people and make them pay."

Resolutions favoring federal loans by the Los Angeles Boulder Dam transmission line and similar aid for projects in the San Francisco district, were passed.

The convention was expected to conclude Saturday instead of Friday, as originally planned.

DEATH CLAIMS MAN HURT IN ORANA CRASH

John Wesley McClelland, 25, Long Beach, died in the Orange county hospital at 6:30 o'clock last night of injuries received last Saturday night in an automobile accident at Orana.

An autopsy was being held this afternoon to determine the cause of the death and an inquest will be held by Coroner Earl Abbey at the Smith and Tuthill funeral parlors some time tomorrow.

McClelland drove his machine into a parked car at Santa Clara avenue and North Main streets, just prior to the accident that cost his life. He was being chased by officers at the time and in trying to make the turn at Orana, his car overturned, throwing him violently to the ground.

He suffered a broken spinal cord and had been paralyzed from the waist down since the accident. His life was despaired of several days ago by hospital attendants.

McClelland's death makes a total of 65 in Orange county for the year, just four short of the number killed here in automobile accidents in 1931.

Anniversary Sale Opens At Sears, Roebuck Tonight

Observance of the 46th anniversary of the Sears Roebuck and company stores will begin at 7 p. m. today, according to an announcement by W. W. Lackey, manager of the Santa Ana store. At that time the store will open for a special anniversary celebration sale.

"Merchandise tested in our own laboratory will be featured during the anniversary event," Lackey said. "Laboratory tested at Sears means tested mainly from the standpoint of service."

"If we were to buy merchandise to be offered on today's anniversary sale, we would be forced to price it from 25 to 33 per cent higher, and in some cases even more," he declared.

Extra salespeople have been employed to assure prompt and courteous service for the great crowds from Santa Ana and Orange county which are expected to attend the sale opening tonight.

Lackey also called attention to the fact that his firm spent $5,712,745 in California alone last year, buying from 245 manufacturing sources in 45 cities. Wages and salaries paid to employees in California amount to $3,651,147 for last year; $568,918 was spent for rent; and $769,594 was invested in newspaper advertising.

WILBUR VISIONS SOUTHLAND EMPIRE IN ADDRESS AT M. W. D. CELEBRATION AT LOS ANGELES

Visioning an empire in Southern California such as has been dreamed, Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, painted a colorful word picture of this section of the state before nearly 1000 business and civic leaders including a group from Orange county, at a luncheon meeting in the Biltmore hotel in Los Angeles, yesterday.

Held as a celebration of the success of the Metropolitan Water district officials in obtaining an appropriation of $40,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation for purchasing M.W.D. bonds, the meeting was attended by a group of Orange county citizens interested in the $220,000,000 project to bring water to Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and other cities in the district from the Colorado river.

Included in the group from Orange county was Col. S. H. Finley of Santa Ana, director of the board from this city; W. C. Jerome, Santa Ana rancher; J. L. McFride, Santa Ana councilman; J. E. Lloyd, county draftsman; E. C. Warner, Santa Ana councilman; Walter Humphreys of Fullerton, director on the water board; C. M. Tupper, Fullerton city engineer; Clyde Jenkin, former Santa Ana city engineer; W. K. Hillyard, county surveyor; Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; Dr. D. D. Waynick of Anaheim; Leo Sheridan, Anaheim councilman and George Reid, secretary of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

Switching abruptly from his glowing word picture of the Southland, Dr. Wilbur told of his problems, and informed the large audience present that his government has wagered $40,000,000 on your ability to develop an empire by using reason and judgment instead of emotion, and it is up to you to make good.

Leaders Present

An imposing array of men who are known throughout the state sat at the speaker's table and were introduced by William Simpson, first vice president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, who presided at the meeting.

John G. Bullock, W. L. Hunsford and Samuel G. McClure were applauded by the large gathering as the men who went to Washington to conclude negotiations for the loan. Credit was heaped upon Secretary Wilbur for his vision and aid in securing the loan. Lt. Gov. Frank Merriam was introduced with other distinguished guests.

Previous to the address made by Secretary Wilbur, W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the Metropolitan Water district board of directors, spoke briefly, outlining the work accomplished by the district.

"We have passed a milestone in our history," he said. After a searching investigation as to the need for water and the financial set-up of the proposition, the Reconstruction Finance corporation has loaned the district money to start the aqueduct project. The loan makes possible the protection of this land against the desert. Business and commerce can live. Thousands of men without jobs will be put to work. We owe a debt to Secretary Wilbur for his aid that we can never pay. In five minutes after we get the money we will start construction work on the aqueduct."

Frank E. Weymouth, chief engineer and general manager of the district, declared that the engineers will be ready to start work within from four to six weeks. It will take that much time before legal details involved can be settled, he said. He said first work would be started on a project which will take six years to complete, the tunnel through the San Jacinto mountains. First, he pointed out, the board of directors had to set a wage scale for the workers according to provision of the state law.

Growth Sure

"You live in a remarkable community," Secretary Wilbur said in launching his address, "but I doubt if you know its problems. I have watched the growth of this section. All countries and states are represented here, a blend of all peoples and their ideas. How can you handle this problem of the growth with a mixture of peoples? A growth, which although somewhat halted, will come again."

"The great thing about man is his dreams, his vision. Men here saw there was not enough water; that soon all the harvest would be made which could be, without putting the plants to work with water. Then came the dream of the Colorado—taking water which cut the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and diverting it to the Southern California plain, adding to its civilization and giving assurance and strength to the land. It was a great dream and it took great men to dream it."

Secretary Wilbur traced the history of the development of the Hoover dam and Colorado water project, lauding the efforts of the various states to agree on a compact.

"The dream of the great men has come true," he said, "and the project is justified for a stable, sane civilization. Bonds project debts into the future but out of them returns will pour in to make progress, and to make good a wager that Southern California will make good."

Population Problem

"Will the community go on in stability? Can you master the people that come here? The only other great immigration is in Manchuria, the tinder box of the Pacific. Thousands of Chinese pour into Manchuria, as peoples pour into Southern California. It is a point of world concern. Here you are the tinder box of democracy. You have great things here, but it is a problem to assimilate millions who come here."

"Every type of science and engineering is being used in the river project in the attempt to block the turbulent, muddy river."

ORANGE COUNTY MILK WINS CUP FOR INSPECTOR

Orange county dairymen won first prize for John Bichan, county milk inspector, out of all districts represented at the Los Angeles County Fair, it was learned today.

In the inspector's class, of the six highest scoring milk exhibits in a group of seven competing inspection departments, Orange county took first place and was awarded a silver loving cup.

Exhibits in this class were required to score high not only at the Pomona Fair, but also must have obtained high rating at two previous state milk surprise scoring contests, the averages of which were computed in the final award. The fact that the quality of these exhibitors' products has been consistently high, was a determining factor in acquiring this honor and formed a basis for their selection as entrants in the contest.

The exhibitors and classes which were the award for the county are as follows: Grade A Pasteurized, Excelsior Creamery, Santa Ana, and Pomegranate Dairy, Anaheim; Guaranteed Raw Milk, Anaheim; Fullerton Creamery and Excelsior Creamery; Grade A Raw Milk, A. F. Siewert of Anaheim and L. T. Wilsey of Buena Park.

Factors taken into consideration in making the award were low bacterial count, good flavor and freedom from odor, butter fat, solids not fat and lack of sediment.

Milk exhibits of Orange county dairymen scored high in the judging at the fair. A gold medal and first prize was awarded to A. F. Siewert of Anaheim for his exhibit of Grade A Raw Milk out of a group of 35 contestants. Cedarcrest Dairy of Yorba Linda, was awarded first prize for Grade A Raw Cream.

Prisoner on Chain Gang Burned In Stove Explosion

Dave Lowen, Santa Ana man, serving two years in the Orange county jail on a non support charge, was severely burned about the face when a gas stove exploded in Irvine park early this morning.

He was taken to the Orange county hospital where it was said that although he was badly burned about the face, his condition was not serious.

Lowen has been acting as cook for the chain gang at the park for some time. In some manner the stove exploded, the jail learned.

PARCEL POST RATES TO BE INCREASED

Parcel post rates will be increased starting with the first of next month, it was announced today by Assistant Postmaster Flake Smith.

Local zone rates will remain the same, that is, any parcels mailed to this city from this city, will cost the same as in the past. The entire scale, with the exception of the local zone, however, were changed. Nearly zones increased but slightly while zones more distant were increased accordingly. Some of the figures show a decrease in mailing cost.

TECHNICALITY IS CAUSE OF CASE DISMISSAL

Criminal court proceeding against Blaine Torres, accused of possession of marijuana, was dropped this morning and the jury dismissed upon showing by Attorney J. Harvey Hearn that, through error in justice court, Torres was not properly represented in court. Torres however was remanded to custody of the sheriff pending new proceedings against him by the district attorney's office.

Hearn, immediately after the jury which was to hear evidence in the case against Torres had been sworn, moved for dismissal of the charge against his client. He made his motion on the grounds that at the preliminary hearing the proceedings were not taken in shorthand by an official court reporter and that L. E. Ross, who served as reporter in the justice court had neither been qualified nor properly sworn.

Ross was called to the stand and testified that he was not an

It is the daughter herself—Miss Rose Lama—who willingly gives the facts in a letter.

She says, "My mother wanted me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was younger. But I wouldn't. If I had, I might have been a well girl now. I suffered terribly every month."

Finally the girls in her office convinced her. She tried it at last. Now she is on the way to greater health and happiness. Mothers—tell your daughters. And daughters—take your mother's advice. Suffering is unnecessary.

BUENA PARK, Sept. 22.—A reception will be given in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. LaRue C. Watson Friday night. The reception will be held in the social hall of the Congregational church at 7:30 o'clock.

The committee in charge of preparations for the event consists of members of the executive board of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Fred Law, president; Mrs. Henry Frohn, vice president; Mrs. J. F. Wagg, secretary; Mrs. W. B. Shaw and Mrs. J. F. Wagg will be in charge of refreshments.

official court reporter. Justice of the Peace Kenneth Morrison, before whom the preliminary hearing was held testified that the oath had been sworn but that the oath was administered for a previous case and was not the constitutional oath.

Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kaufman resisted the motion to dismiss the charge against Torres and contended that rights of the defendant had not been prejudiced.

In dismissing the case Superior Judge James L. Allen cited the law which requires that an official court reporter must be present at all times unless excused for cause by the court. When that is done the court must appoint as an official court reporter.

He pointed out that Ross had not been sworn for the Torres proceeding and that the oath given him in a prior proceeding was not proper and that the official court reporter's certificate had not been filed with the transcript of the preliminary hearing.

Torres was remanded to the custody of the sheriff upon request of Kaufman who said that new proceedings would be instituted at once.

COUNTY METHODISTS GATHER TO WELCOME NEW BISHOP; URGED TO SUPPORT DRY CAUSE

More than 500 Methodists of Orange county gathered last night in the First Methodist church here to welcome Bishop James Chamberlain Baker, head of the San Francisco area of the church, on his first visit to this section. They were guests at a dinner sponsored by the Orange County Fellowship and Methodist Ministers, and served by the Dorcas society of the First Methodist church.

R. R. Lutes, president of the Fellowship, presided and introduced guests and called the roll of churches represented. Lutes also introduced Dr. James Allen Geissinger, district superintendent of the San Diego district who spoke briefly on the need for united action in support of the Wright Act in California and the Eighteenth Amendment at the general election in November.

Dr. George Warner, pastor of the First Methodist church, introduced Bishop Baker and Mrs. Baker.

Bishop Speaks

Bishop Baker, in his talk outlined the history of the Methodist church, telling of its origin with John Wesley and the early days when religion was carried to the frontiers by Methodist circuit riders.

He said that people do not turn back often enough to history for inspiration and said that a man with no interest in his ancestors has but little regard for posterity.

That Methodism is the greatest church movement in the middle west was not by chance, he declared. It was because the circuit riders, called by the late Woodrow Wilson "Knights Errant," carried Methodism to the frontier following the ever changing line of civilization.

"The frontiers have changed today," he said, "but the task remains. The physical frontier has been taken up but our task is more difficult and the more difficult the task the greater is our responsibility for finding the way."

Champions Free Speech

He declared that in the present day of dulled consciences when such amazing things are done in business it is imperative that an attempt be made to see what the principles of Jesus mean in practice and put them into practice as soon as possible.

The heritage of free speech should be cherished not only in the pulpit but in every phase of American life, he said.

He also stressed the important part taken in church life by the laymen and the need for their active support and cooperation for success in church work.

During the dinner Prof. D. C. Clanton, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Adelaide Harrell, played two trombone solos and a mixed quartet from the church choir sang one number. Members of the quartet were: Mrs. Erna Rutter, Miss Ethel Coffman, Fred Jaynes and Edwin Biddle.

Must Support Prohibition

Dr. Geissinger, in his address, sounded a warning against propaganda being circulated in an effort to repeal prohibition. He declared that unless everyone exerts every effort on its behalf the Wright Act will be defeated at the general election in November.

"Do not be deceived by the great wet ballyhoo that is sweeping over the country," he said. "There has never been anything like the great wave of misstatement of facts that has been let loose."

"I do not see how we can afford to be fooled at this time. We must save prohibition. The issue is clearly drawn. We are facing a crisis. Let us go forward furiously."

He also informed his listeners that Kathleen Norris, one of the nation's outstanding writers and a devout Catholic, has agreed to give one month of her time in an effort to arouse the Catholic people in the campaign for prohibition.

No More Piles

How to End Terrible Agony
Without Salves or Cutting

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give permanent relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause—and not one minute before. External treatments can't do this—an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts.

HEM-ROID tablets have an almost unbelievable record of success. So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McCoy Drug Co. and druggists everywhere invite every sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if it does not end their case?—Adv.

Mrs. Margaret Hill, newly elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary will be installed tonight during joint installation services at the Legion hall on North Birch street. Judge J. B. Tucker will be installed as commander of the Legion post.

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Sept. 22.—Norman Pottery of Mancos, Colo., is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Littlejohn.

Will Schnitzer and S. C. Oertly have returned from a trip to Antelope valley.

Henry Blacholder, George Rogers, Clem Conklin, Harry Jentges and Archie Clark have gone on a deer hunting expedition in the vicinity of Red Bluff.

Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Magnusson attended a pleasant reunion of old-time Minnesota friends held in Anaheim park Wednesday when Mr. and Mrs. Polser, of Brea, entertained with a chicken dinner.

Malcolm New is on a two weeks' business trip in the northern part of the state.

9 FAKE $20 BILLS PASSED IN SANTA ANA

Indications that more bogus $20 bills were passed by the gang of counterfeiters who operated in this district several days ago, than indicated on the first check up, was revealed today with the announcement that approximately nine of the fake certificates were passed in Santa Ana.

One of the bills was accepted at the post office, it was revealed. Merchants who had accepted the money were given a rude shock when they presented the bills at their banking institutions as the tellers had no difficulty in detecting the counterfeiters when they were brought in.

It was pointed out, however, that the bills were exceptionally well made and that few persons would notice they were not genuine. The bills were of the new size currency with the picture of President Jackson on the face. All carried the same number, A-20797488-A. The money was printed on a poor grade of paper without any silk threads.

A San Clemente merchant accepted one of the bills Saturday. He failed to look it over closely and Monday tendered it to a vegetable dealer. The latter discovered that it was not genuine.

Most of the bills passed in Orange county were passed by a man described as being five feet seven inches in height, 45 years old, dark features and wearing a dark suit. This man is believed to be Lavo Govich, who made his escape after three members of his alleged gang of bogus money passers had been arrested by authorities in Riverside county.

Federal officers continued their search today for Govich, believing that he was the leader of the group. Bob Kalinski and a woman who gave the name of Rose

G. Vuconick were arrested in Corona Monday after a Corona merchant had become suspicious. Later on Mike Govich was taken into custody as a member of the gang.

It is believed that the fake money passed here was made in Detroit, correspondence found in the home of Lavo Govich indicating that the certificates had been shipped to his home near Victorville from the Michigan city.

OINK, OINK

TOLEDO, Ohio.—Pigs in pigs, and rumble seats is rumble seats, but when the noise of a piggy in distress comes from a rumble seat, it's high time to investigate. Deputy Sheriff James Farley, of Berkey, O., believes. He has found thieves are stealing pigs here and hauling them away in the rumble seats of their cars. Equals coming from rumble seats excited the suspicion of farmers.

"Nature in the Raw" is seldom MILD

OUTLAW OF THE JUNGLE... "Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the great animal painter, Paul Bransom... inspired by the leopard's fierce fighting power and relentless hunt for prey which makes him the terror of every beast of the African jungle.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes

They are not present in Luckies... the mildest cigarette you ever smoked

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"

—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"It's toasted"
That package of mild Luckies

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?

PIANOS FOR RENT

CRASH VICTIM SEEKS $26,000 FROM COUNCIL

Mrs. Anna M. Curtis, of 2010 Coast Boulevard south, filed a formal claim with the Laguna Beach city council last night for $26,000 damages against the city because of injuries sustained on March 27, when she was thrown from an automobile on Diamond street, near the boulevard, when the car in which she was riding is asserted to have struck a chuck hole in the street. She sustained fractures of both wrists and many other bodily injuries. The sum of $25,000 was named as damages and $1000 for actual expense for medical care. On the advice of City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey a motion prevailed that the claim be not allowed. Howard G. Heisler of 241 Cliff Drive, made a personal plea on behalf of property owners on that thoroughfare to construct a 24-foot roadway, 500 feet long, parallel to the street and on a 65-foot strip lying between Cliff drive and the property line on the south side of the street, which recently was decided to the city by the council. The council as a body will visit the property and consider the matter at a future meeting. City Engineer Frank P. Gowan approved the plan.

The land was deeded recently when the county was faced with paying a street assessment for the improvement of Cliff Drive.

The report of R. D. Crenshaw & Co., which audited the city's books for the fiscal year ending June 30, last, was accepted and ordered published. A comparative statement showed that the city's income had been reduced about $18,000 last year over the previous year.

Councilman Champion, who was named as a delegate, at the last meeting, to the convention of the League of California Municipalities to be held next week in San Diego, failed to get an appropriation for expenses. After Mayor J. E. Bishop had expressed an opinion against "junkies" and declared he intended to attend the convention and pay his own expenses, Champion's suggestion failed for lack of a motion.

H. Henshaw made application for the position of street foreman made vacant by the resignation of Vaughn Knight. It was filed. Bills to the amount of $1807.50 were ordered paid from the general and sanitary funds.

Laguna Cafe Man Files Application For Liquor Permit

A. Travaglini, president of a company operating a cafe in the Hotel Laguna, made formal application to the city council of Laguna Beach last night for a license to sell beer, wines or other liquors, "if and when" the 18th amendment is repealed or the prohibition law amended so that such sales are permitted. The application stated that its purpose at this time was to establish a priority claim in the matter of a license.

Without a smile, Councilman Frank B. Champion moved "that it be filed for future reference." Councilman George W. Wilson, smiling broadly, asked Champion if he could set a date for bringing it up again. There were more smiles around the table. Wilson seconded the motion and it carried. Mayor J. E. Bishop remarked that he didn't think they would have to bother about it again.

CANADIAN BUSINESS MAN DECLARES CONTROL SYSTEM GREATER EVIL THAN SALOON

Beer parlors in Canada cater to women and are a far greater evil than the saloon ever was, according to a letter received yesterday from Omar S. Bent, manager of a large salmon canning plant in Vancouver, British Columbia, by his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Bent of Modesto, who are visiting at the home of Mrs. A. C. Williams, a sister of Mrs. Bent, in Tustin.

ROUND-UP TO BE STAGED BY P.-T.A. MONDAY

TUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Unique in every detail is the "fall round-up" to be staged in the grammar school auditorium at 7:45 p. m., Monday, when the teachers and parents and friends interested in the grammar school pupils gather for an evening of entertainment.

The following children, dressed as cowboys, will serve as ushers: Betty Hannaford, Virginia Matthews, Betty Jane Timmons, Louis Riehl Jr. and Billy Leinberger.

The address of welcome will be given by Mrs. Guy H. Christian, president of the Grammar School P.-T. A. and the response by Superintendent Charles A. Wiese. Louis Riehl Jr. will follow with a welcome number and Miss Evelyn Furtch and Norman Watson will give a reading, "Pressures of Life." Mrs. J. D. Campbell, legislative chairman of the Fourth District P.-T. A., will give a talk on the tax transfer amendment.

Vocal numbers on the program include a solo by Bobby Welschneck, of Olive, and duets by the Jesse brothers, of Talbert, and by Louis Riehl Jr. and Billy Leinberger.

Upon adjourning to the school cafeteria room, a social hour will be enjoyed and refreshments of home made cakes, coffee and punch will be served under the direction of Mrs. Gavin Baxter.

Parents having pupils for the first time in the grammar school, are especially invited to attend the affair which will be informal, and is being held in place of the usual annual teachers' reception. Mrs. Guy H. Christian, president, stated.

Bent, a prominent citizen of Vancouver, is a native of British Columbia and has lived there all his life and knows the facts of the liquor situation there. The letter was written in response to an inquiry by Mrs. Bent, who was anxious to obtain the truth from someone in Canada who knows the conditions. The investigations show very different results from statements made by wet propagandists. It was pointed out.

Bent directly and clearly suggests "that your American Congress does not copy our liquor laws and make any change in the Eighteenth amendment."

Regarding the liquor conditions in Canada, the letter from Bent reads as follows: "I have been studying the question from all angles, and have come to the conclusion that we have not accomplished much."

"We here in Canada import the largest quantity from the distillers in England and Scotland. The liquor is handled by what is known as the Liquor Board Control, under the supervision of the government. When a consignment arrives, it goes to the government warehouse and is distributed to the various liquor stores throughout the province."

"Anyone can get all the liquor he wants except Indians, by buying a permit for $2.00. The permit is good for the year in which it is issued. The government takes $2 on every gallon for revenue. The local, or state government, takes half as much more, and by the time the consumer buys the liquor, he has to pay from three to five dollars per bottle, according to the different brand."

"We still have bootleggers with us just the same. He does business when the liquor stores are closed."

"We now come to the beer question, which also is under government control. The beer is made in the local breweries and is sold to hotels at $21 per barrel. It is distributed to the patrons of the beer parlours at 25 cents per bottle, or 10 cents per glass."

"Case parlours are fitted up at a great expense. (I know one hotel that spent $6000 on the ladies' compartment alone.)"

"The beer is served at tables in glasses by waiters. The only restrictions are that a lady have an escort before she can enter. The contents of the beer is not known to patrons, but the most of us call it 'chemical.' The beer parlours all cater to women, and we consider that they are a far greater evil than the saloon ever was."

"This is the situation as I see it here in British Columbia. And I would suggest that your American Congress does not copy our liquor laws and make any change in the Eighteenth amendment."

Mission Worker In Tustin Talk

TUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Mrs. E. C. McKinstry of Santa Ana, secretary of national missions sewing and box work, gave an interesting talk regarding her work at Tuesday's regular meeting of the Mrs. A. D. Turner Missionary society held in the Presbyterian church parlor.

Mrs. S. M. Arundell and Mrs. Gavin Baxter were in charge of the devotionals, also the national mission's topic, "The Younger Generation," and the foreign mission topic, "Outlook for the Year." Miss Erna Knapp and Miss Alma Gorton entertained with an instrumental duet.

Those present were Mesdames C. E. Day, John W. Sauers, A. E. Ashcraft, William Kellams, F. S. Arundell, Gavin Baxter, James Gorton, Henry Windler, Dale Winterbourne, Earl Marshall, Sylvia Seadon, Grant Henderson, Ruth Walker, the Misses Erna Knapp, Alma Forton and Minnie Windler and the Rev. and Mrs. J. Stuart Hydanus.

Pot Luck Supper For Young People

A pot luck supper for all young people of the community who are interested in the approaching John Brown evangelistic campaign is to be held at the Tustin Presbyterian church at 7 p. m. tomorrow. H. J. Baxter, announced that all young people are invited to this affair.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

FAIR ATTRACTS GREAT CROWDS: NEARING CLOSE

Exceeding the most optimistic expectations and establishing still more firmly its reputation as the largest and most beautiful in America, the eleventh and greatest of all Los Angeles county fairs is now on its home stretch with a record already established for the greatest number of entries, the largest opening day attendance and the biggest program of entertainment in the history of the exposition.

While it was expected that the fair would be bigger than ever this year because of the moving of the Riverside and Orange county events, officials were hardly prepared for the mighty influx of entries. Earlier estimates of 20,000 exhibits have been exceeded by several thousand. Fifteen different states are represented in the women's department. With 2500 birds on exhibit the poultry show is greater by 500 entries than in 1921. Again this year the pigeon show is the greatest in the history of the fair. There are over 7000 head of livestock on exhibition in the premier livestock show of the west.

The junior fair with its 1500 entries is one of the largest events of the kind ever held in the country. The hundreds of interesting school exhibits have been the center of attention for thousands. Attracting national and international attention the fine arts department under the supervision of Willard Sheets is noteworthy because of the high quality of the exhibits.

The fair will come to a close at midnight Sunday night and for the closing days a memorable program has been arranged including feature attractions, music and special events well calculated to round out the great agricultural and industrial pageant.

INSTRUCTOR AT REDLANDS WILL TALK SATURDAY

ORANGE, Sept. 22.—With Dr. E. R. Van Odel, professor of geology and astronomy at Redlands university, as the speaker, plans for the young people's banquet to be held at the Woman's clubhouse at 6:15 p. m., Saturday, are going forward to completion. Details of the affair were discussed last night at a meeting of committees at the Y. M. C. A. in charge of J. B. Wilbur, Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Miss Lavina Compton, Y. W. C. A. secretary.

It was decided last night to limit attendance at the banquet to young people and the leaders of the departments. The fact was stressed that the event was a community rather than a church affair and that all young people are to be welcomed.

Reservations may be made up until tomorrow noon. It has been announced by Miss Frances Harper, head of publicity for the banquet, that the event was reported last night that autumn leaves and dahlias would be used in the decorations.

Vernon Valentine will act as toastmaster. The young man is a graduate of Redlands and is a member of the Alpha Gamma Nu, a fraternity of which Dr. Van Odel is the advisor.

Miss Thelma Dugan will give several readings. Mrs. Christine Lambert will play the accompaniment for the group singing led by Morris Singer and violin solos will be given by Kathryn Fern Sumner.

TO OUR FELLOW CITRUS GROWERS OF CALIFORNIA

MEETINGS:—The citrus growers of California have mutual problems which we believe can and should be solved in a friendly, open-minded and profitable way. This announcement is a sincere endeavor on our part to present facts which we hope will assist in furthering the welfare of all individual citrus growers of California.

We have tried twice to have these suggestions submitted to the growers through the regular conferences which have been held in Santa Ana but both times such requests were refused. We are forced, therefore, to use this medium to reach you.

We wish to point out that the suggestions set forth an immediate and temporary plan which without delay can be put into operation for the remainder of this season, and a permanent plan which we believe will go far in solving major citrus distribution problems.

A careful analysis shows that the relative purchasing power of California citrus fruit is stronger than that of other farm commodities, and that the acreage values of California citrus groves are much higher than general farm values.

We must safeguard the credit of our industry, the purchasing power of our crops, and the values of our groves against insidious gossip and rumor; against unwise publicity which tends to make the consuming public believe that we have a tremendous unmarketable surplus of California citrus fruits (and thus forces down market levels), and against malicious propaganda designed to harass and to disrupt the effective operations of our marketing groups.

Cooperative marketing principles we know by experience are sound and dependable. The Mutual Orange Distributors was created more than a quarter of a century ago (1906) by individual citrus growers. It is strictly cooperative and directed by the individual citrus growers, and is a charter member of and represented on the board of the National Council of Cooperatives.

The Mutual Orange Distributors, being a genuine cooperative, does not act without the consent and approval of the board of individual citrus growers who direct its policies and actions.

We, who comprise its membership, therefore, express to you our views concerning several important matters which we believe are of vital interest to all individual citrus growers.

All of us naturally acknowledge that the buying power of the consuming public and the amount of fruit produced by us, the individual growers, are two factors which directly affect the price we are to receive for our crops. And we, as growers, know, of course, that both of these are conditions not created by our marketing organizations and which are almost wholly beyond their control.

When large crops are grown all marketing groups have increased burdens. It is the task of all individual growers to cooperate with them in the handling of the fruit. Assuming that fruit must be culled out, we believe it is logical to get rid of the poorest fruit raised. Such a policy means that the consumers and the market will be protected against the sale of lower grades and at the same time a place will be left for our quality fruit.

We believe it is illogical and poor business for the growers to throw away their good fruit and at the same time continue to market low-grade fruit.

However, before it is possible for any groups to gather at a table and settle common problems such as the matter of an orderly elimination of any of our fruit, there must be a common ground on which all can meet. One of the first essentials is that each party must be willing to subscribe to the doctrine of "live and let live." We believe that it is manifestly unfair and impossible for two or more groups to unite on a beneficial program when any one group sponsors the idea that all other groups should be destroyed or their membership weakened.

Furthermore, we feel that before any plan affecting the interests of individual growers can be evolved that certain other basic principles must be recognized. These principles we believe are:

1. That the welfare of the individual growers is paramount and any plan affecting the grower's fruit must be designed solely for the purpose of benefitting the individual growers of California;
2. That the plan first must be actually approved by the individual citrus growers who own or control the acreage which on the average each year produces an adequate control volume of our total yearly crops. Previous plans worked on have placed this volume at 90 per cent;
3. That all shipping groups should utilize their man-power and resources constructively to build their selling efficiency, and to create new market outlets.

Any plan to be effective must be based on confidence, on tolerance and genuine understanding. It should not be designed (nor taken advantage of) as a means to increase membership of any selling group, or to undermine the membership of, or to disrupt the operations of any selling group.

In our own government, the consent of the governed is a primary requisite. So it is with selling groups, particularly cooperatives. We believe the individual growers should be given an opportunity to analyze and to approve or to reject any plan before any selling group tries to put it into operation. This is no time to try to remedy the situation by subterfuge. On the contrary, each grower must have all of the facts.

The grower, we feel, isn't looking for any "indirect" or "painless" way out. He wants the right way, the one which will increase his returns.

The argument that such a policy is impossible because "we haven't time" or "the growers should be told what to do" in our judgment, is not acceptable. (Of course, the grower cannot be expected to arrive at sound conclusions unless he has all sides of each question. He needs facts and is entitled to them.)

When earlier in the season the first conferences were called to consider the matter of protecting our better fruit against the sale of low-grades, the Mutual Orange Distributors on request submitted a plan based on the principles hereinabove set forth. That plan after brief consideration was rejected.

At the conference held at Santa Ana on the 29th day of August, we submitted a resolution requesting that these same principles be recognized.

That resolution likewise was rejected.

Since we first submitted our recommendation we have received some very constructive advice which is included as suggestions in the plan which is here set forth for your study.

OUR RECOMMENDATION

It is understood, of course, that no plan can be a panacea for all ills of the industry. It is particularly true that no plan of orderly elimination can be of maximum benefit until competing fruits and citrus fruits produced in other states are under a coordinated plan, and we feel that we must openly face these facts rather than be lulled into security by the belief that any plan can actually accomplish impossibilities.

Various plans have been submitted to us and from these we have sought to mould one which contains the basic principles necessary to protect the interests of the individual growers.

At this time we respectfully submit to the individual citrus growers of California for their usual careful and open-minded consideration the following general outline of a suggested plan (subject, of course, to revision of such minor details as is found necessary) which it will be noted sets forth a definite relationship between the individual growers and their respective packing groups (or where the grower deals directly with a selling organization, then directly with the latter), and, in turn, between the packing groups and an unbiased unit called the NEUTRAL UNIT.

THE GROWER AND THE PACKING HOUSE

The arrangement between the individual grower and his packing house would grant to the packing unit the right to say when and in what amount the grower's fruit would be picked, and the right to cull out fruit which is declared unfit to be marketed. The grower, in our judgment, should have the right to withdraw therefrom at a stipulated time each year after the first year.

THE PACKING HOUSE AND THE NEUTRAL UNIT

The arrangement between each packing unit (or between the selling unit, where the growers deal directly with the latter) and the Neutral Unit would provide that the packing (or selling) unit and the growers served by it would abide by the decisions of the Neutral Unit. Each packing unit should be permitted to withdraw, we believe, each year after the first year.

THE NEUTRAL UNIT

The Neutral Unit, we believe, should have the power to perform only the following specific acts:

1. From time to time to determine what portion, if any, of our crop should be declared unfit for market and to declare the same to be unfit for market, and, if necessary, to specify the particular fruit to be culled; provided, that in so doing the poorest fruit shall be so designated; and
2. To specify, if deemed advisable, the time when fruit declared unfit for market shall be culled out and not offered for sale.

Provided, that no decision of said Neutral Unit shall place an unequal burden on any packing unit or growers. It will be noted that any fruit to be culled is to be culled out by the packing unit. The individual growers who compose each packing unit thus will be directly in touch with all handling of their own fruit. Naturally, they will see that the poorest fruit is culled out first.

NEUTRAL UNIT—ITS COMPOSITION

The Neutral Unit we believe should consist of those persons who are experts in the business. For that reason we would recommend that it consist of one (1) representative (preferably the sales expert) of each shipping organization whose packing groups have entered into contracts with the Neutral Unit.

It is further recommended that the plan shall become effective only when individual growers who control the acreage which annually produces a sufficient volume control are parties to the contract. Previous plans have worked on a 90 per cent basis.

To avoid misunderstanding, it is suggested that the following definitions be adopted:

Cull: To withhold from any channels of trade and sale, including diversion to by-products where the by-products compete at any time directly or indirectly with our fresh citrus fruits;

Unfit to Be Marketed: All citrus fruits not complying with the standardization laws of California and all citrus fruits which if sold will be reducing the general purchasing power of California citrus fruits lower than the total income of the industry.

This plan, we believe, is built "from the bottom up" rather than from "the top down." Only by some such plan, we believe, are we going to be able to stop the sale of low-grade products which destroy the markets for our advertised good fruit.

We respectfully request all individual growers to give these suggestions their usual careful and unbiased thought.

CONCLUSION

We are now, as we have always done in the past, regulating our shipments to meet demand conditions, including a constructive export plan. We urge other shippers to do the same thing so that all growers will be benefitted regardless of their marketing affiliations.

We are ready and willing to abide by any suggestions which our individual citrus growers approve. We are ready and willing to have our sales experts confer (as they did prior to 1927) with those of all other legitimate selling groups. We have repeatedly made this announcement. We can do no more until other groups express a willingness to do likewise.

This could be done within 24 hours and get immediate action for the rest of the Valencia season.

This announcement has been submitted to and unanimously approved by the boards of directors of all of the following packing associations affiliated with the Mutual Orange Distributors in Southern California which handle Valencia oranges.

THE ABANDONED PRO-RATE

The abandoned pro-rate plan, we believe, was detrimental to the best interests of the individual growers.

The Mutual Orange Distributors filed official notice of its withdrawal therefrom on June 30, 1932, thus complying with all terms of the agreement.

This action of the Mutual Orange Distributors was taken officially by its board of directors, all of whom are citrus growers. They directed the withdrawal to be filed, and we are all in accord with that official action. We act for this fact particularly because propaganda has been spread to the effect that this action was dictated by paid officials. Such a statement is untrue.

Under the provisions of the abandoned pro-rate plan, very few individual growers were first consulted or had any voice in its operations. We feel that the Mutual Orange Distributors made a mistake by signing the agreement before it had been referred to all of its growers.

The abandoned pro-rate plan did not stop the sale of low-grade or loose fruit, the sale of which actually injures the market for our good fruit. On the contrary, under the pro-rate plan much good fruit would not be sold and at the same time poorer grades actually were being sold. This meant that the growers not only would have lost the value of their good fruit which would have remained unsold at the close of the season but the portion of their good fruit which was sold had to meet the competition of the lower grades. The plan "pro-rated" a class of fruit which ought not to have been sent into trade channels. It must be understood that the abandoned pro-rate plan actually consisted of two pro-rates, one which pro-rated packed fruit and one which pro-rated loose, low-grade fruit. The plan penalized the individual growers by forcing their good fruit into competition with lower grades.

We are told repeatedly "auction sales" set the price for our fruit. If such is admitted to be true, then the low level of prices set by the loose fruit auction in Los Angeles for lower grades reduce the prices for our advertised good fruit to that level. We know that the market for our good fruit not only in Los Angeles but generally in California and on the Pacific Coast and as far East as Denver has been substantially lowered by the sale of loose and low-grade fruit.

Such a condition we believe is not sound or for the best interests of the citrus growers of California. It penalizes our advertised good fruit.

The abandoned pro-rate we did not believe was intended to govern foreign shipments. Our position is based on the fact that the matter of foreign shipments was discussed before the agreement was signed and it was our understanding as expressed by one of our representatives in the conference that any marketing group which exported fruit was to be congratulated for thus relieving the domestic market. As soon as the agreement became effective the majority of the distribution committee took the opposite position and insisted that exports must be included in the pro-rate and the shipper making them thus was to be penalized.

We objected to this interpretation. No change was made until after the Mutual Orange Distributors withdrew, which was one month after the plan went into effect. (The plan was in actual operation for four (4) consecutive weeks during all of which time the Mutual Orange Distributors was shipping under the pro-rate.)

It is argued that the mere announcement of the signing of the abandoned pro-rate agreement had the psychological effect of causing the market to advance. If such be the truth, then the same psychological law should have reacted to cause the market to drop when the pro-rate was abandoned. The facts are that the trade on July 2nd knew the pro-rate was doomed, yet the market continued strong for two (2) weeks thereafter. The decline in the market which then set in was caused by the effect of the competing crops, less favorable weather conditions, and the fact that one large shipper materially increased its shipments. (See Chart No. 3 below). Under present buying power conditions we know, of course, that the market cannot withstand such heavy shipments.

The abandoned plan endangered cooperatives by forcing more growers to sell for cash. Already a larger part of the total crop is being and will be handled by speculators. This is breaking down the cooperative work of the past quarter century. Growers naturally want to know what a plan is before it begins to operate. It is imperative that it be referred to them first for their individual approval.

A study of the price levels over a period of years during the months of July to October of each year reveals seasonal fluctuations similar in action to the ones we have been passing through.

The market is now advancing. This is to be expected under the present buying conditions, and general farm commodities prices show an upward trend.

THE ACTUAL OPERATION OF THE ABANDONED PRO-RATE

During the season 1931, based on carloads of 462 packed boxes each, the Mutual Orange Distributors handled 12 per cent of the total Valencia carload shipments. Under the abandoned pro-rate the Mutual Orange Distributors were allocated only 10.78 per cent.

According to the 1931 annual report of the largest shipper, that organization shipped approximately 72 per cent. It was, however, allocated 88 per cent of the pro-rate shipments.

The actual shipments (domestic) of the Mutual Orange Distributors during the four (4) weeks of the pro-rate averaged only 9 per cent of the total California shipments.

The Mutual Orange Distributors under the abandoned pro-rate for all four (4) weeks were allocated only 452 carloads. It actually shipped to all domestic markets only 485 carloads. This was an excess of 33 cars over its allocation. This excess, of course, was not sufficient to affect the general market.

Your attention respectfully is called to the charts set forth below. They set forth clearly the actual picture of shipments under and since the abandonment of the pro-rate agreement.

We believe it is essential that all individual growers know the facts, shown in said charts, not alone because they prove the ineffectiveness of the abandoned pro-rate but principally because they show the necessity for all growers to know what any plan is and how it is to work before their fruit is handled under it.

This chart shows the comparative percentage of the total shipments of Valencia oranges made by the Mutual Orange Distributors (the small white spaces in the column), the California Fruit Growers Exchange (the largest black portion of the column), and all other shippers (the shaded portion at top of the column) for the period of week ending July 25, 1932, to and including the week ending August 20, 1932.

This chart shows at a glance which shippers actually were effecting the market levels. It will be noted also that the shipments outside cooperatives during each week exceeded the average shipments of the M.O.D. The first four columns were during the pro-rate.

This chart shows the percentage of total shipments of Valencia oranges (domestic) made by the M.O.D. during the period of the pro-rate and until August 21, 1932.

The top line indicates the 12 per cent of the total Valencia crop which the M.O.D. actually handled during 1931. The next line represents 10.78 per cent, which is the percentage allocated the M.O.D. under the pro-rate. This is 1.22 per cent less than its actual proportion of the total crop.

The dotted line with the figures shows the actual percentages shipped by M.O.D. under and since the pro-rate. The figures are the actual percentages. The horizontal dotted line indicates that the M.O.D. averaged only 9 per cent of the total shipments when in fact it was entitled under the pro-rate to 10.78 per cent. It exceeded that percentage once, during the week ending July 9, 1932, by 22-100ths of 1 per cent! It will be noted that since the pro-rate was abandoned M.O.D. shipments have been far below the percentage it was entitled to market under the pro-rate.

This chart shows the actual shipments in carloads of the M.O.D. and the California Fruit Growers Exchange for the period of the week ending June 25, 1932, to and including the week ending August 20, 1932.

Please note that the M.O.D. shipments since the pro-rate was abandoned (7-16) have gone downward.

Compare with this downward trend of the M.O.D. shipments the large increase in shipments (1234 cars) of the California Fruit Growers Exchange for the week ending July 23, 1932. The market dropped thereafter.

This chart shows the downward trend of price for large sizes (176's and larger) during the period of the operation of the abandoned pro-rate. The lower line shows the upward trend of small sizes (250's and smaller) during the same period.

The causes for these price trends are: an over supply of large sizes due to picking for sizes by groups other than M.O.D., thus leaving small sizes on the tree, and to the fact that the M.O.D. exported 19 per cent of its total shipments, principally small sizes.

OPEN SANTA ANA COMMUNITY CHEST HEADQUARTERS TODAY; PREPARE FOR BIG CAMPAIGN

Headquarters for the annual Community Chest fund appeal will open today in the Sycamore building, at the corner of Third and North Sycamore streets, W. F. Croddy, secretary of the real estate board, has just announced.

W. J. Tway, president of the chest and general chairman for the $53,000 welfare and relief fund, at the same time announced that Croddy will head the important headquarters committee. The responsibility of the committee this year is increased because of the staggered type of campaign in force, it is said.

In addition to arranging for the free use of main headquarters and equipment, the committee is charged securing satisfactory division centers for the residential department of the appeal. Much of the responsibility also will fall upon it, for making arrangements for the volunteer services to be used in the mechanical organization for the fund appeal, it is said.

"Community Chest directors and the campaign executive committee have agreed that this year every possible cent raised in the appeal must go toward relieving suffering and distress in Santa Ana and for carrying forward the program of prevention and rehabilitation for our neighbors," says Croddy.

Eliminate Expense
This means that all along the line our headquarters committee, will seek the co-operation of printers, supply houses, building owners, volunteer helpers and others to eliminate every expense in the operation of the campaign. As a result of their co-operation we believe that it will be possible to carry through an appeal at a cost which will establish a new record for economy and come to less than the total involved usually in a one-agency appeal for funds.

Central Location
The new headquarters is centrally located and will be within easy reach of all. Tway pointed out, "However, it should be remembered that as far as possible large general meetings are to be avoided this fall, for we are holding to the belief that the public recognizes the seriousness of the situation and does not have to be rushed into doing their utmost through the old fashioned parade and red fire methods."

Group meetings and organization committees will hold their meetings at the headquarters. The number of such gatherings will have to be large during the balance of this week and through all of the next week in order to get final appeal arrangements completed, it is said.

The advance gifts department of the campaign will start meetings Friday at the headquarters, in order that it will be ready to take the field in its solicitation activities. Then will follow the pre-appeal on Tuesday of next week, meetings of the schools, business, residential, establishments, employees, public employees and utility employees departments.

DRY DEBATERS WILL DISCUSS ORANGE MARKET

The economic aspects of the liquor question, with particular regard to the harm the orange industry of Southern California would suffer if the eighteenth amendment and the Wright act are repealed, through competition of beer with orange juice, will be brought out strongly by Hall and Summers when they present their nationally famous "Wet vs. Dry" dialogue-debate in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church here at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The debate, which is said to be highly entertaining, is sponsored by the Santa Ana board of strategy. No admission is charged and the public is invited.

The team will show that voters of Orange county cannot afford to repeal the liquor prohibition and control acts. The intent of the team is to logically prove that if beer, wine and hard liquors are permitted to come back and be sold in competition with orange juice, it will cut down the consumption of oranges, with resultant loss to the orange grower.

Thousands of cars of oranges are shipped from this section and used for juice, the debate will point out. With orange growers now being asked to prorate their shipments, Hall and Summers will insist that it is asking too much of the orange grower to divide the decreased income from his business with licensed drink emporiums or other places serving alcoholic drinks, which they say will result if the "stay at home" voters permit the Wright act and eighteenth amendment to be repealed.

The drama-debate also will be staged in the Costa Mesa Community church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock.

GOV. ROOSEVELT CANCELS TRIP TO SANTA ANA

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's proposed visit to Santa Ana on his scheduled trip to San Diego from Los Angeles following his address in the Hollywood bowl Saturday afternoon definitely has been called off.

Santa Ana and Orange county Democratic leaders had hoped to entertain the presidential nominee in Santa Ana Sunday, when it was understood that he had been induced to stop at Birch park for a short address en route.

Democratic headquarters in Los Angeles late yesterday announced that Roosevelt would start back for New York after the Los Angeles address.

Mayor Paul Witmer, head of the Orange county Roosevelt-Foran club said today that there was a possibility of plans being changed again, however, and that every effort would be made to induce Roosevelt to make the swing down to San Diego before returning East. He said he would probably know by tomorrow for certain.

CONTINUE HUNT FOR MISSING BEACH WOMAN

Although it has been five months since Mrs. Nell Shelton disappeared from a little beach house at Seal Beach, the sheriff's office has not given up hope of locating her, and almost every day some new rumor, or some new clue is taken up and followed by deputies.

Mrs. Shelton, a native of Oklahoma, was living in a wagon-house with Charles Baker, an itinerant, on the sands at Seal Beach. With her were her two daughters, nine and six years old, and two older children, a son and daughter of Baker's.

One day she disappeared. Baker or the children could give no clue of her whereabouts. The Seal Beach police worked on the mystery for some time, finally reporting the case to the sheriff. Since that time the search for has been on, thus far no solution of the mystery has been made.

She was greatly attached to her children, it is reported, and for this reason, the sheriff's office is not inclined to believe that she deliberately deserted them, leaving them with a man, officers have learned to believe she did not like. The children, since that time, have told of the fights she had with Baker.

Baker, now in Oxnard, was brought to the sheriff's office and questioned at length about the disappearance of the woman, but nothing was learned to aid in solution of the case.

After their mother had been gone for several weeks, and it appeared that she would never be found, the county welfare department took charge of the Shelton children and sent them to the home of their mother's sister, Mrs. Ed Stettler, at Kingfisher, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Stettler has written numerous letters, giving little bits of information from time to time, including photographs of the missing woman, but so far, the clues have led to nothing.

CITY FIREMEN ASK LOAN OF TOOLS TO AID IN PREPARING TOYS FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Christmas seems a long way off yet, but not to Santa Ana's firemen, who have a big job on their hands before the time for Santa Claus to appear.

Each year the Santa Ana firemen make and distribute hundreds of toys to poor Santa Ana children. Each year their work has increased, until last Christmas they made and gave 500 children toys.

The demand for toys is expected to be greater this year, they anticipate, so, according to Captain R. R. Raymond, firemen want to get busy immediately.

The department is not ready to accept broken toys for repairing yet, but it is getting its working equipment in shape and tools are needed. Captain Raymond stated that a number of tools would be needed this year as well as toys and the present appeal is for tools.

A hand saw, and a jig saw are needed first. If there is any one in Santa Ana who has one that can be loaned to the department for the next several weeks, please call on the fire department, and a fireman will call for them. All kinds of hand tools also are needed together with paint and paint brushes. It makes no difference if the paint is red, white, or blue, or whether the paint can is filled. If there are persons who have a partially filled can of paint, they can give, it too will be appreciated, Raymond said.

To inaugurate the work of the newly organized Orange County Women's Hoover-Curtis club, a luncheon meeting will be held at Ketter's cafe tomorrow at 12:30 a. m., it was announced today.

The featured speakers at the meeting will be Judge Charles A. Balbreich, of Los Angeles, and State Highway Commissioner Phil A. Stanton, of Anaheim. All women in the county were invited to attend, but it will be necessary to make reservations with the local chairman or with the cafe.

Burlingame, of Balboa, was named secretary and Mrs. Margaret Stevens, of Huntington Beach, was elected treasurer. Women were present from practically every community in the county.

College Student Makes Surprise Visit Home

The unexpected arrival yesterday morning of Harvey Pease for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Pease, 607 West Chapman street, Orange, was quite as happy a surprise to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Diers, 115 North Main street, Santa Ana, who like other members of the family, were given no hint of the plans for a Southland visit on the part of the young college student.

Graduating last summer from Oregon State university, Harvey Pease entered at once upon vacation work with one of the big silk corporations, and won a salesmanship contest for the state of California which carried with it a trip back to the company headquarters in Indianapolis with all expenses paid. Relatives of the young man believed that he would return from Indianapolis directly to Palo Alto where he will continue his legal course at Stanford university. So his arrival yesterday was a happy and very complete surprise. He will be here for several days before resuming college studies.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

A Scrumptious Lunch in 20 Minutes

I have a resourceful friend on whom I depend occasionally for the pleasure of seeing how resourceful she can be when she has to be.

Yesterday was one of those visitations and here is what came to the luncheon table in less than 20 minutes.

Scrambled eggs, Spanish, toasted rolls with cheese, cantaloupe and peach salad, iced coffee.

Those scrambled eggs! Their memory lingers with me yet, for of all the innocuous things to eat scrambled eggs head them in my estimation, but THESE eggs, I watched what went into a frying pan; a big onion and a big green pepper were run through the food chopper and put to fry with a good piece of butter. When nice and bubbly two large tomatoes were diced into the pan and frying continued until the vegetables were soft. Then they were seasoned with lots of paprika, some salt, a pinch of cayenne and SUGAR. In another bowl were three eggs, lightly whipped, and these eggs were stirred into the Spanish mixture and cooked quickly.

The toasted rolls were stale flat rolls of the English muffin type, just split, buttered, spread with soft cheese and set in a hot oven until the cheese was melted and bubbly.

The salad offered a delightful flavor contrast and was dessert as well as salad; just put some nice pieces of lettuce on salad plates and slice on the crockets of cantaloupe and sliced ripe peaches. A creamy mayonnaise was used with this.

Iced coffee? you either like it or you don't. I don't, so we won't have the recipe today.

You can be sure that school has opened and we are all getting down to the real business of keeping house when I start running spinach recipes. Before I start the explanation for the spinach recipe I want to jog your memory about my favorite way of serving spinach. Dress it with a little rich cream sauce and season lightly with NUTMEG.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Spinach Cheese Roll
4 pounds spinach
1 cup grated cream cheese
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, whites beaten separately
1 cup toasted crumbs
salt, pepper and paprika to taste.

It is highly important to prepare spinach properly, if you want all of its valuable mineral elements. Wash it well, trim the root carefully, then cut straight across the root to release the leaves for further washing. But don't throw away the little pink root—that's where the flavor lies. Cook them with the spinach, always.

After preparation let the spinach stand in cold water, when ready to cook it lift out of the water into the kettle and cook over a low fire without adding further water. If an open kettle is used most of the water will evaporate leaving the mineral salts intact.

After 10 minutes' cooking chop the spinach fine (still in the kettle) add melted butter, 3/4 of the cup of crumbs, the grated cheese, the beaten egg yolks and seasonings. Whip the whites very stiff and fold in. Put the spinach into a casserole, shaping it up into a long loaf, scatter the rest of the crumbs over top and make in a moderate oven about 30 minutes.

This dish takes the place of meat and may be the main part of a vegetable plate dinner.

Teachers And Parents Honored At Fullerton Gathering

ASKS SPIRITUAL TRAINING FOR SCHOOL PUPILS

FULLERTON, Sept. 22.—Centering around the year's theme, "Riches Background for Our Children," Dr. Graham C. Hunter spoke at the first meeting of the year of the Wilshire Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon following a business session, urging that parents consider spiritual training along with physical and mental training, and suggesting that by some means or other, soul training should be carried along with other cultural activities.

"We need a sense of obligation for public good instilled with the training of children," Dr. Hunter said. "We need a touch of the spiritual truths of life to bring about the high and idealistic, drawing as an example the marvelous things accomplished by Joan de Arc, who 'through a vital faith touched the heart of all France.'"

"The most important training of all is a vital faith, and obligation to God and to society. The child, praying, is one of the powers in education that should not be neglected," he said.

The meeting was attended by a large crowd and new teachers of the Wilshire, Chapman and Harvard avenue schools, parents of new children in these schools, whether of children transferred from the other schools or new residents, were jointly honored.

Mrs. A. C. Terrill, new president, presided at the session. Musical numbers were provided by Mrs. Van Voorhis, who gave a whistling solo, accompanying herself on the piano, and a piano solo.

R. E. Green, superintendent of the elementary schools, urged parents to assist in keeping the standard of education high, since present tendencies of economy are to throw hardship on the schools.

New teachers introduced were Miss Dorothy St. Pierre, Miss Arlene Ellis, Miss Inez Haines, Miss Valborg Linde, and Miss Marion O'Connor, and Mrs. Alice Whitaker, substitute for Miss Nora Meador.

Committee appointments announced by the president at the last executive board meeting, and functioning today, were Mrs. W. H. Fowler, membership; Mrs. E. F. Dyeinger, program; Mrs. M. J. Richardson, hospitality; Mrs. R. J. Heyling, finance and budget; Mrs. C. R. Vanderburg, association standard; Mrs. A. R. Ellis, emblem and magazine; Mrs. R. J. Schofield, courtesy; Mrs. Martin N. Bullis, soup kitchen; Mrs. Vanderburg, founders' day; Mrs. George Pickering, study circle, and Mrs. H. H. Knowlton, musician.

Officers who are serving with Mrs. Terrill are Mrs. Vanderburg, vice chairman; Mrs. Jesse Tilton, secretary; Mrs. H. G. Maxwell, treasurer; Mrs. Dan McKinley, historian; Mrs. R. E. Green, auditor and Mrs. Mollie B. Thatcher, parliamentarian.

At the short business session announcement was made of the parent education instruction classes to be started October 6 at the high school under Dr. Regina Westcott-Wiemann. A large attendance is anticipated.

The soup kitchen will be started in October, it was announced by Mrs. Bullis. On Sept. 29 a tea is to be held for Dr. Westcott-Wiemann.

Hostesses at the session yesterday were Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Ray C. Green, Mrs. Pickering, Mrs. A. O. Stovall, Mrs. Tom Griffith, Mrs. Paul Hill and Mrs. Mabel Johannesson.

FIESTA PLANS OUTLINED FOR SERVICE CLUB

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 22.—The transition of Southern California from the fiesta period to the frontier period will be celebrated by the recently organized Costa Mesa post of the American Legion at its first annual Fiesta del Oro, on Sunday, October 9.

La Piedad del Oro will be staged at the Derby ranch in Costa Mesa, said to be the only Spanish grant ranch in Orange county, the others being Mexican grants.

The fiesta will begin at noon and from then until about 2 p. m. a first class barbecue dinner will be served, the dinner being included in the admission price. The net proceeds will go to the unemployed of the district.

After the barbecue there will be Spanish and Mexican sports and entertainment, the latter being in charge of Sol Gonzalez of Santa Ana, who won the grand sweepstakes prize at the Tournament of Lights, July 16.

Harry H. Williamson and Irvin G. Gordon, two of the 11 delegates of the Newport harbor post of the Legion to the Legion's national convention at Portland last week, told some of the highlights of the big meeting, and how the harbor district was publicized by a new folder issued by the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

SURF EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT SUNDAY

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 22.—The entrance to Newport harbor at Corona del Mar, said to be the finest beach for surfing on the Pacific, barring only Hawaii, will be made the locale of annual Pacific Coast championships in surfboard riding, body surfing and surfboard paddling, and the first annual races will be staged there next Sunday.

On the same day a rough water swim for women and girls will be held on a course of about two miles in Newport beach, beginning at the west jetty and ending at the Balboa pavilion. Among the entrants will be Janet Sheather, Canadian Olympic swimmer, who is spending a holiday in Southern California, and who won the rough water swim at Hermosa Beach on the evening of Labor day.

Surfboard riders from all parts of Southern California, including many who have ridden the famous breakers at Waikiki, will take part on the surfboard contests, according to Antar Deraga, physical culture expert of Hollywood and this city, who was instrumental in choosing the local beach for the surfboarding competitions.

The program will begin at the Corona del Mar side of the harbor entrance at 10 a. m., the surfboard races being followed by body surfing events. "Body surfing" consists of allowing oneself to be propelled by the breakers like a surfboard, but without the aid of either arm strokes or in swimming, a surfboard or any other device.

Body surfing races will be staged for both men and women, also surfboard paddling at 100 yards and half a mile. All these events and the girls' rough water swim will be for amateurs only, and gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to first, second and third contestants in each. Nothing in the home means so much and costs so little as Electricity

Electricity Bills of 10 Years Ago Would Look Awfully High Today!

"Look, John, here's an old bill for electricity the first year we were married!"

"Why it's as much as we're paying today, and we didn't have an electric refrigerator, a washer, a radio, or half a dozen of the electrical conveniences we have now!"

"No . . . that bill covered lights, mostly . . . but you know Edison rates have been reduced several times since those days, and we're getting lots more service for our money today."

Even the humblest home today enjoys electrical advantages that a king's ransom could not have bought ten years ago. Electrical inventive genius developed the electric radio, the electric refrigerator, the modern electric heater. Electrical manufacturing skill produces these devices at a price that brings them easily within the reach of every home, and splendid advances in the generation and distribution of electric current have enabled every home to use these appliances at a cost only slightly greater than was paid for lights alone a decade or so ago. In Edison territory the average electric dollar buys twice as much service as it did in 1921.

Edison Lighting Rates Reduced 42% Since 1921

General living costs are well below their high peak of 1921, but they are still 40% higher than in 1914. But Edison lighting rates are 40% lower than in 1914, and since 1921 these rates have been reduced 42%. Your dollar now buys twice as much electricity for all household uses as it did in 1921!

FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

"The peanuts that the monkeys eat," said Scouty, "must have tasted great. Just watch the monkeys jump around. They're happy as can be."

The zoo man then said, "They all stuff and never seem to have enough. Whenever they get hungry they start in to pester me."

"However, they are friends of mine, and we'll all get along just fine, until they start their funny tricks. Then, sometimes I get mad."

"Of course they help me 'round the zoo when I have lots of work to do, but you would be surprised to know of little spite we've had."

"Why, just last week one took my hat and hid it. Just imagine that. I looked and looked until I was as tired as I could be."

"And then the monkey jumped around and threw the hat down on the ground. It has been hanging high up in the branches of a tree."

One monkey then jumped in the air and gave poor Duncy quite a scare. It landed on the wee tot's head and chattered loud and long.

The zoo man said, "Hey, take him, son, to yonder tree. You'll have some fun. Another monkey will help him prove that monkeys are real strong."

"A good idea," Duncy cried. "If it's a stunt, it shall be tried. Come on, all of you Tynies." And the whole bunch followed him.

They reached a tree that towered up high and then they heard the zoo man cry, "The monkeys will form a swing by hanging from a great big limb."

A fine swing board soon was brought out and, mid the Tynies' merry shout, the monkeys scampered up the tree and hung down by their tails.

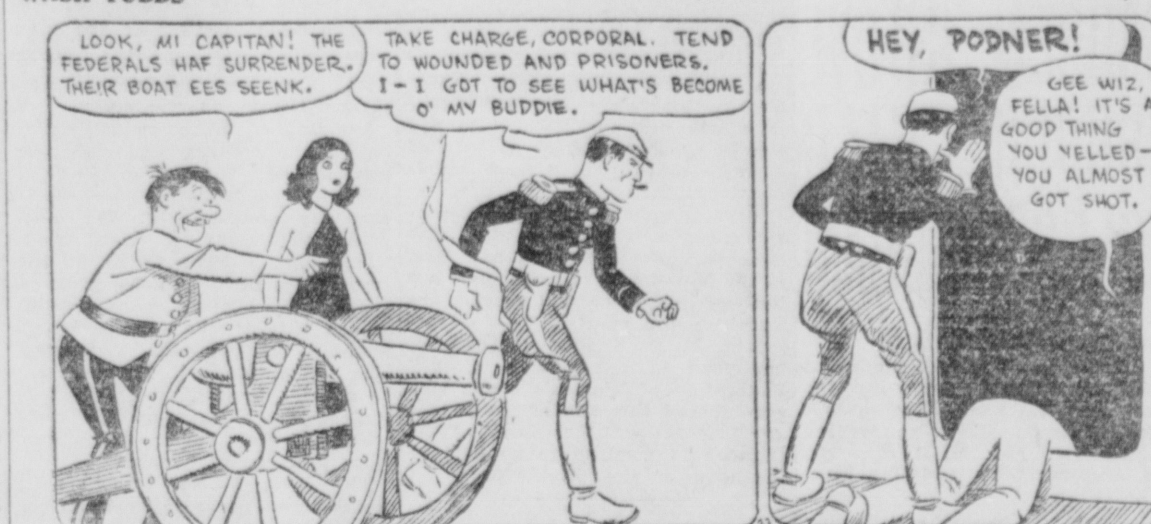

They grabbed the board and held it tight. Said Duncy, "Gee, this is all right!" He hopped aboard and shortly cried, "Hey, see how fine this is!"

(The Tynies have a real laugh at Scouty's expense in the next story.)

SALESMAN SAM

Sam's Got His

"Grandma," a typical caricature by Arthur Weindorf, which won wide attention when displayed at a recent exhibition in New York.

By DEXTER H. TEED

THE unique career of a three-dimensional subway artist has made Arthur Weindorf probably the busiest man in America, and quite possibly the only man in the country who is not afraid of losing his regular job.

It sounds involved, but it isn't. And when you hear all about it, perhaps it will seem impossible—but it isn't. He has proved it. For 24 years Weindorf has been with the Board of Transportation of New York City. During most of this time he has been designing subway models that are marvels of accuracy, beauty and architecture.

He doesn't have an assistant. When he is ill all work stops. Hence, as there is nobody in the world who can take his place, he is not afraid of losing his job—even in these troubled times when jobs mean so much.

The second phase of his remarkable career, which has run concurrently with his regular work, has made him an artist whose caricatures, paintings and sketches have won fame for him.

AND until recently, over a period of 10 years, he taught architectural drawing in night school, while doing his other work, supporting and raising a family and traveling more than an hour every day on the subway system he knows so intimately!

If that has not made him the busiest man in America, then bring on the competitors! If he is amazing, they must be extraordinary. If there are any.

Weindorf, now approaching middle age, was born and has always lived in Long Island City. He liked drawing in school. He elected to be an architect and was eventually licensed in that profession. His first job was as a draftsman with a prominent firm.

Perhaps that might have been a life-time profession if he hadn't continued to draw cartoons in his spare time. He was finally put on the staff of the Long Island Star, where some of his caricatures of political figures, striking events and ideas of his own attracted attention.

By 1908, however, he was offered a good position with the Board of Transportation as a draftsman. He accepted and continued routine work until four years later, when increasing problems of design in building the intricate subway systems that burrow under greater New York made it necessary to have a model maker. Officials conferred with him.

"I believe I can make them," insisted Weindorf, cartoonist, artist and draftsman—although he had never made a subway model in his life.

HE went to work. Using pieces of metal, wood, glass, plaster board and odds-and-ends, following blue prints, he constructed his first model. It was a success. It established him. His "regular" job has been doing that since.

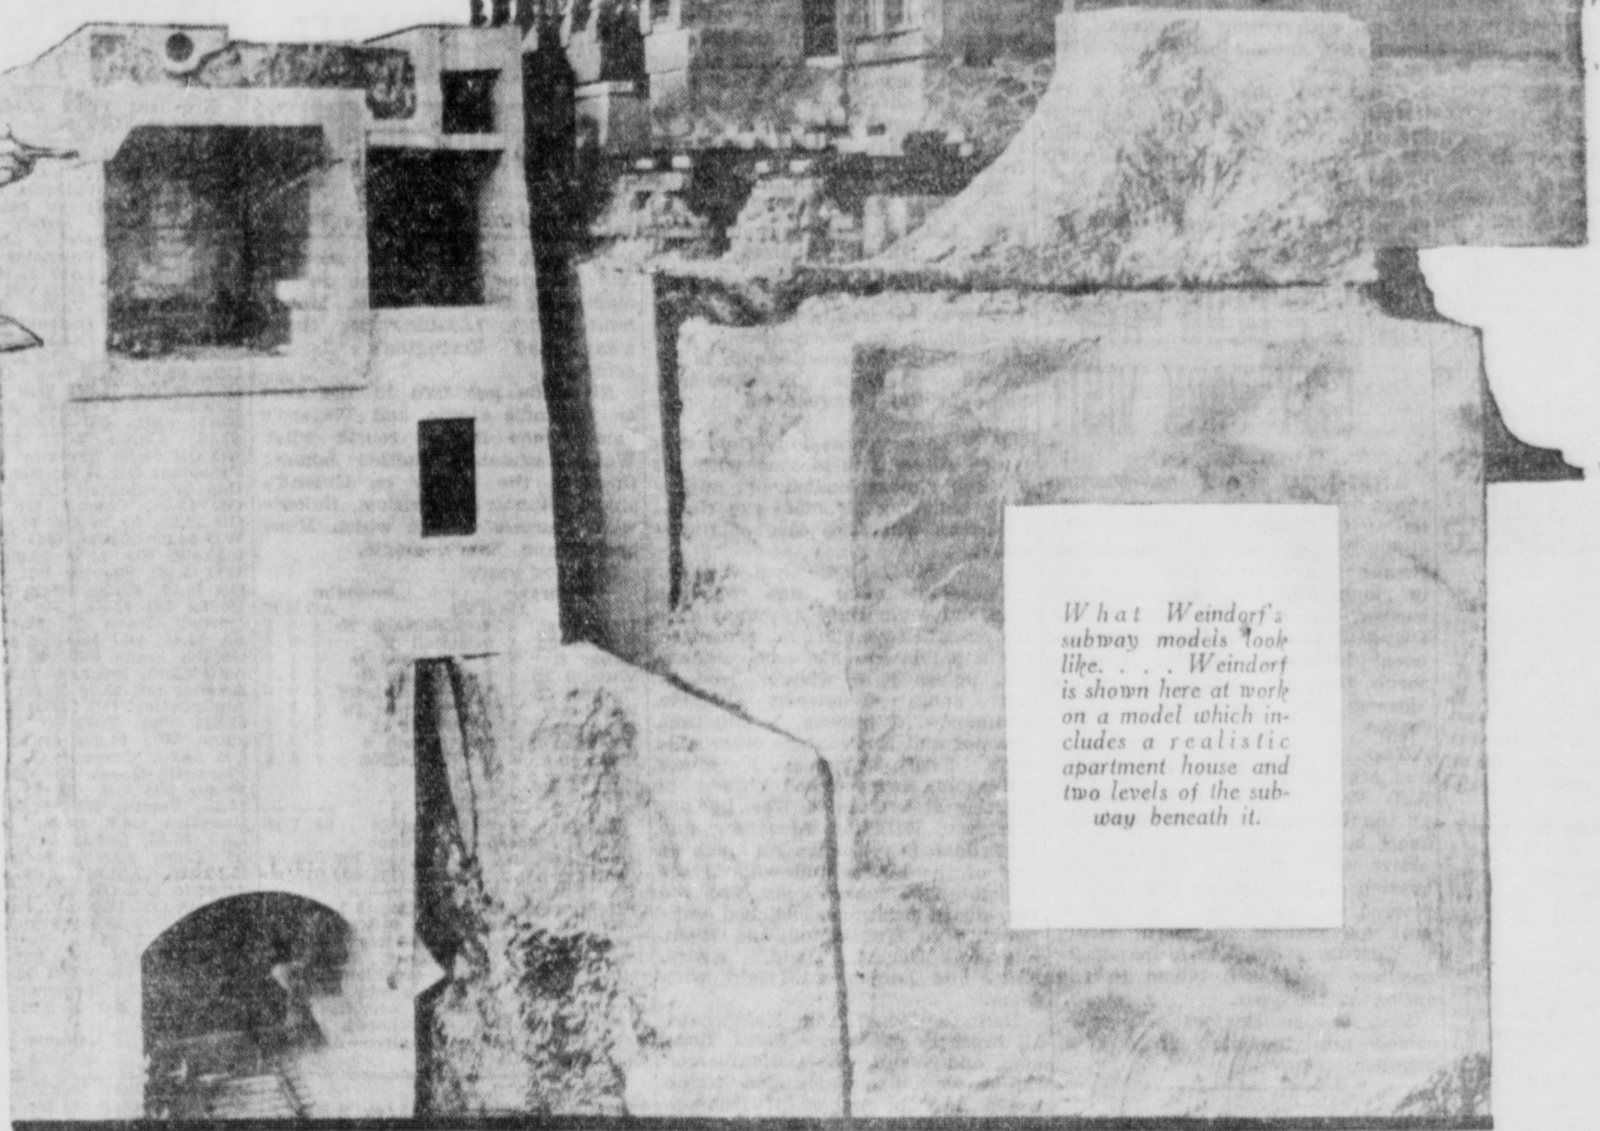

Sometimes he has even built a section of subway with an apartment house above it. This has been necessary when individuals and corporations have sued the city, claiming that subway construction has undermined and weakened their buildings.

On one occasion he worked six months constructing a model apartment house, complete in every detail, with even curtains in the windows. That model was used in court and the city won the case.

Usually, though, he works on models of important subway terminals, such as the complex Times Square sector. He makes all the levels, trains and frequently he puts in the guards, brass buttons and all!

A recent model was one of the East Side Plaza, which is the entrance to the vehicular tunnel eventually to be bored through the bed-rock of Manhattan from east to west. In this case he actually made miniature automobiles to show how the traffic will flow so that there will be no crossing of lines of cars and hence no traffic jams. He

Arthur Weindorf paints pictures that make people laugh---and with a razor blade he carves miniatures from which the famous "underground" is built

What Weindorf's subway models look like. . . . Weindorf is shown here at work on a model which includes a realistic apartment house and two levels of the subway beneath it.

Double Career of the Cartoonist Who Models New York's Subways

Another of Weindorf's cartoons . . . "The Monster," displayed recently at the annual exhibition of the Society of Independent Artists.

is an expert, swift and sure, and his models are correct to the last detail.

I knew at once, to use for rivets. "I went in and bought some, took them to

"I CAN carve out about 80 or 90 automobiles an hour," he says. "Then I dip them in different colored paint and they are ready to be put on the roadways."

Rather surprisingly—his main tool in all his construction is a safety razor!

Sometimes he has difficulties in obtaining materials that will represent the things he is trying to show in miniature. Pipe models were difficult to get, until he hit upon the plan of using spaghetti. Now, painted and coiled, strings of the favorite Italian food look exactly like iron pipe. Weindorf tells one amusing story about finding material:

"I was building a model with heavy iron girders and I couldn't think of anything that would represent rivets. For several days I pondered over the matter. Finally, as I was passing a store, I saw some small gum drops in the window. They were just the thing, my workshop, put them on the model and painted them. They looked exactly like rivet heads. Then I stored the model in a closet for a while. But when I went to get it, something had happened. All the rivets were gone. The rats had eaten them off!"

OFTEN, to get exact details of an unfinished subway, he prowls through subterranean tubes with a flashlight, observing phases of construction that he might have missed. Occasionally he completes a model and finds details which must be changed. Then he is forced to start over again.

Perhaps his most remarkable piece of work has been carving from cardboard a model of a fancy filigree iron fence that stood in front of an apartment house. He insists that all details must be exact.

His regular job takes up all his time through a full day. Then he returns to his Long Island City home from his workshop in Brooklyn—on the subway—and goes to work in his studio there.

As a cartoonist and caricaturist he draws and paints pictures that resemble those of the late Ralph Barton, who has been called a genius.

Weindorf has exhibited his paintings and drawings at the Society of Independent Artists exhibition in New York every year. Few have realized that he is the same man who is the most expert modeler of subways in the world.

HIS cartoons are usually bizarre and satirical. Side by side, he once showed pictures labeled "Eugenic Baby" and "Gin-Hic Baby." The former was of an apple-cheeked infant being bathed. The second was of a thinly clothed girl with feet on a table, drinking gin. Both attracted attention.

At a recent exhibition his modern "Grandma," so strikingly showing the characteristics of a certain type of elderly woman, received a great deal of comment. Another was "The Robot," symbolizing the machine age throttling modern man.

Weindorf frequently—in fact, usually—works late at night on his drawings and paintings. His enthusiasm has never died, although it has been more or less an avocation for him.

He never went to art school. All he knows about art has been learned from a correspondence course and practical experience. That, perhaps, explains why his designs are so original in their conception.

"IT'S easy for me if I have the idea clearly in mind," he says now. "Often something occurs to me very clearly, and I go home and in an hour or two I can finish a picture."

Weindorf has not done all he wants to do yet. Frequently he flies in an airplane and obtains birdseye views of Brooklyn, Manhattan and Long Island. Then he goes home and makes sketches for future reference, to be used whenever he finds time to draw or paint pictures from angles that have never been utilized before.

At present he is interested in the progress of one of his two daughters, Mabel, who is studying drawing. He is helping and advising her, while he is doing his own work.

That, in part, takes the place of teaching architectural drawing, which he was forced to give up when the pinch of the depression convinced the city administration no person should hold more than one city position.

LEAGUE ITSELF THREATENED BY GERMANY'S WITHDRAWAL

The disarmament conference at Geneva has before it the question of dealing with Germany in respect to armament. Germany has withdrawn from the conference and the other members are in a suppliant attitude requesting her return. Germany insists that she must be permitted to rearm so as to place herself in relation to the other great nations on something of a basis of parity.

In order to understand Germany's attitude one must go back to the treaty of Versailles and note the agreements entered into there upon which Germany certainly had the right to rely. In part five of the treaty of Versailles, which is identical with what is incorporated in the Treaty of Berlin between the United States and Germany, the acceptance of the disarmament provisions of the treaty by Germany are declared to be "in order to render possible the initiation of a general limitation of the armaments of all nations." When this portion of the treaty was under discussion between the allied and associated powers, Premier Clemenceau of France was directed by the associated powers to reply to a letter from the German representative and make the intention of the allied powers perfectly clear. He did this in the following language:

The Allied and Associated Powers wish to make it clear that their requirements in regard to German armaments were not made solely with the object of rendering it impossible for Germany to resume her policy of military aggression. They are also the first steps towards that general reduction and limitation of armaments which they seek to bring about as one of the most fruitful preventives of war, and which it will be one of the first duties of the League of Nations to promote.

How anyone can interpret this statement of the treaty and this interpretation of it by Clemenceau other than that the nations would immediately begin to disarm is beyond our comprehension. Certainly this is the interpretation which has been put upon this language by Germany. Arthur Henderson, the president of the disarmament conference, in a declaration a few days ago indicated a similar interpretation when he said that the nations must immediately proceed to disarm or they must grant Germany the right to rearm. To be sure, this was not the official action of Great Britain. Great Britain, the United States and France cannot afford to assume a position of granting Germany this power.

But let us examine this clearly for a moment. Germany has been forced into a position of practical disarmament. The only justification for this portion of the agreement in the treaty was the agreement by the other nations to immediately place themselves in the same "disarmed" condition. Now the other nations refuse to fulfill their part of the agreement. By what theory of the obligations and sanctity of a contract can the nations refusing to fulfill their part of the agreement maintain that Germany must fulfill hers?

Months ago it was pointed out by all the friends of disarmament that unless this conference brought about a substantial reduction, that Germany must refuse to be a party to the convention and the logical outcome of this would be that she would withdraw from the League. If this is permitted by the nations there is bound to be set up in Europe such dangerous alliances among nations which in turn will follow the example of Germany in withdrawing from the League as will not only endanger but will insure the disruption of peace. The alternative to Germany's position must be taken. The nations must disarm. As Viscount Cecil declared months ago in relation to this conference: "The conference must succeed. The alternative is too sinister for any man or woman of good sense and goodwill to contemplate."

TAMMANY STUNNED

New York City has an honest mayor, or at least a mayor who seems disposed to establish a record for himself by giving New York City a square, economical administration. The courts have just held that under the law the present mayor who came to his office through the resignation of Mayor Walker holds his office for the balance of the term for which Mayor Walker was elected. This would mean that this square, economical and clean administration for the great city of New York would extend to January first, 1934.

Tammany Hall is stunned, appalled, and says that this can never be. And her "war lords" have determined upon an immediate appeal to the higher courts. The millions in salary and graft which it seems that McKee is determined to cut off from public expenditure in the interest of the taxpayer and common honesty Tammany looks upon as confiscation of her financial income, if not as downright robbery.

We wonder whether Tammany slipped a cog in ever permitting McKee to be president of the board of alderman and thereby in legal line to be the mayor of greater New York. Either he went through their training school for crime without being phased by his instructors or maybe he was a dull student and never did graduate. Of course it is possible that in the training through which he is supposed to pass before becoming chief of the gang, he is expected to agree to their policies and plans and be loyal to direction.

There is a cog slipped somewhere. Oh, the worries that Tammany has when she is confronted with an honest official! And worst of all when he belongs to their group. They probably are quoting the words of Ingersoll when he declared that ingratitude was the basest crime of which man is capable.

GOVERNOR ROOSEVELT EMPHASIZES VALUE OF PUBLICITY

Governor Roosevelt in his speech yesterday called attention to a condition which without raising any question of partisanship, deserves the attention of all thinking citizens. The collapse of the Insull securities and the investigation made by the United States Senate all emphasize that the over capitalization of any public utility which is permitted to charge the public such an amount for his product as to insure an unfair margin of profit should be subject to the most complete governmental control in the interest of justice. Mr. Roosevelt pointed out the figures quoted by Senator Norris in the Senate month before last, where Norris showed that there was an over-capitalization of $520,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt, speaking upon that particular subject declared:

This meant, my friends, that the people of the United States were called upon to supply profits upon this amount of watered stock. It meant that some one was deriving profits from the capitalization into which they had put no substantial capital. It means that the people had to pay these unjust profits through higher rates.

It is rather interesting in considering Mr. Roosevelt's remedies for utility evils to note that three of them depend upon one proposition, and that is "publicity." First, "publicity" as to all capital issues of stocks, bonds, and other securities, liabilities and indebtedness; again, "publicity" on the ownership of stocks and bonds and other securities including the stock and other interest of all officers and directors; third, "publicity" with respect to all inter-company contracts and service and interchange of power.

There are few things which the general public should insist upon more than this, of information. Without knowledge the citizen is helpless. Knowing and facing the facts he can and will meet the issues and solve them.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE STRANDED

It is reported from Tucumcari, New Mexico, that Father James R. Cox of Pittsburgh, candidate for President on the "jobless ticket," and his party, are stranded there for lack of funds. They were on their way campaigning for election. In our judgment this is the natural position to be in for the representative of the jobless group. If they had plenty of money to carry on their campaign and to pay expenses they wouldn't really be true representatives of the jobless.

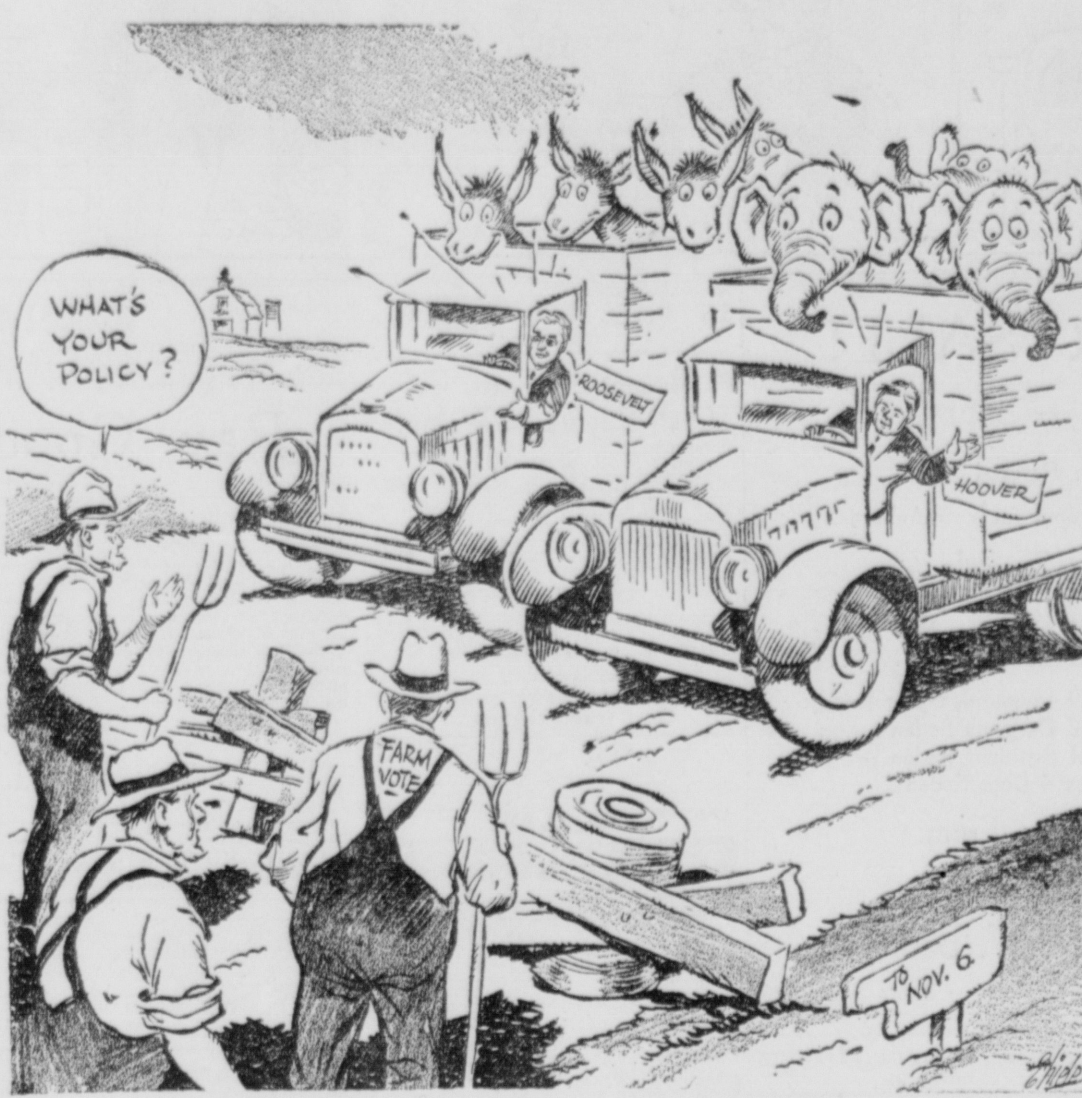

Stranded is the natural condition to be in. Surely they can get gasoline enough to get into the next town. We have not noted Father Cox's program but that he is sympathetic with the jobless we are thoroughly convinced and that he understands their difficulties and woes is now self-evident. He says that his candidate for Vice-President is going to send him an aeroplane in which he is going to fly back to Pittsburgh and have a conference. Evidently the Vice-President must have a job. He is with them but not of them.

It is nearer to the Pacific Coast from New Mexico than it is to Pittsburgh. Why can't they continue on their journey, at least Father Cox in the aeroplane? We would like to help give him a reception. While we do not know anything about his proposed remedies for the situation and have serious doubts if he has one, yet we know by his activities that he is thoroughly sympathetic and to that extent we all could show our appreciation.

A Changed City

Athens has flower gardens and trees where none were to be seen a few years ago. The very old city has asphalt streets, large buildings, and a modern appearance. After standing by old ways for many years, it is returning to a glory that was its in an ancient day. The miracle is water. American engineers have built a dam near Marathon, created a vast lake and an aqueduct—using a part of the old one of Hadrian, 1800 years old—and the precious liquid which has been a luxury is now plentiful. Geographers call Athens now the most changed city in the eastern Mediterranean and the people there know American engineering skill is responsible.

More Truth Than Poetry

MERELY A PRIVATE OPINION

The cave man, so the legends state,
Was quite a crass and rough curmudgeon,
Who, when he went to woo a mate,
Declared his passion with a bludgeon.
He had no time or thought to spare
For words of love and adulation—
He merely dragged her by the hair
To his untidy habitation,
Where she would kneel, and kiss his hand,
And murmur softly, "Ain't you grand!"

No vows were made, no words were said;
The placid, prehistoric beauties
When in this fashion they were wed
Contentedly pursued their duties;
And, when a husband had lost out
In some unlucky fight or other,
His gentle wife would never pout
And threaten to go home to mother.
She tucked the moaning wretch in bed
And softly stroked his battered head.

It may be that such tales are true,
But history's abundant pages
Deny the student any view
Of these long past, forgotten ages.
And I'm convinced that now and then
The cave man woke up bruised and shaken
The while it dawned upon his ken
That his ideas were mistaken.
For women then, like women now,
Were not defeatists in a row.

THE PURPOSE OF SCHOOLS

As I write these words, advance touches of the tang of autumn days are in the air.

As a schoolman, I begin to feel that tightening of nerve that every schoolman feels as vacation days draw to a close and the beginning of the school year draws nearer.

In the closing days of every summer, as I begin to feel the premonitory stirrings of the oncoming school year, I ask myself again what is the purpose of our schools.

As I hinted last week, there are three fairly distinctive purposes now bidding for the vote of schoolmen and citizens the world around.

These three purposes, from which we should, with some unity of national mind, choose, may be stated thus:

(1) One school of thought conceives the social purpose of the schools to be training grounds for citizenship in the existing political, social, and economic order of the time.

This school of thought does not believe it is the business of the schools to take any initiative in effecting basic changes in the status quo.

(2) A second school of thought conceives the social purpose of the schools to be agencies through which a new and better political, social and economic order may be sold to the youth about to take over the reins of society.

(3) A third school of thought conceives the social purpose of the schools to be the utmost development of individual students, the helping of students to arrive at worthy standards by which to judge social policies and social practices, the training of students to think clearly and objectively, but not to serve either as uncritical boosters for the existing social order or as high pressure salesmen for some theoretically conceived new social order.

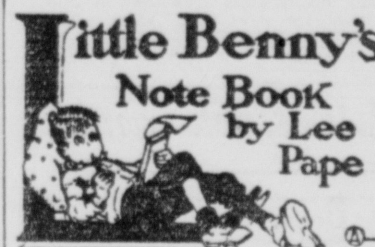

There is at the moment very great confusion respecting these three purposes in the minds of American schoolmen.

We should have greater national unity of mind respecting our schools.

I do not think we can absolutely exclude all of any one of these three purposes, but I think there is grave danger in the wholesale adoption of the conditions of either the first school of thought or the second school of thought to which I have referred.

I think the American future will best be served by pointing American schools primarily towards the purpose stated by the third school of thought. We do not want to be blind enough to believe that the political, social, and economic order of American life cannot be improved. On the other hand, we do not want to turn our schools into propaganda agencies for some theoretical new society.

HOME VISITING

If you do not know a child's background you cannot know the child. If you do not know him you cannot teach him. This is something to be considered by every teacher from the kindergarten through high school. There is no reason why home visiting, which is stressed in the kindergarten, should cease with that grade. The child goes on and on and each teacher he meets is a stranger and strangers are not intimate, you know.

"Cecilia is the slowest child about answering I ever saw. I ask her a question and she seems to gather the answer from somewhere down in her heels. I have to give her a question, go halfway round the class and come back in order to have her recite once in each recitation. I never saw such a child."

"Maybe she has a speech defect?"

"Not she. When she speaks it is as clearly as you or I would speak."

"Have you seen and talked with her mother?"

"No. Her mother couldn't help me. This is in the classroom. I ask a question and it's up to me to get the answer from Cecilia. What's the use of bothering her mother? But I'll go. I'll do anything to get that child to speak under five minutes."

When the teacher saw the mother she said, "Yes, Cecilia has improved in her speech past our greatest hope. We are delighted with her improvement especially since she has been in your class. She tells us that she recites every lesson. That's wonderful. We are so grateful to you we can't half begin to thank you. The other teacher ers were so impatient. Said they couldn't wait. The child got no chance. Now we can see her improving daily."

"It's years now since she had the attack. For more than a year she didn't make an effort to speak. You can imagine how delighted we were when she began to say a word. Of course, she is still slow at starting but that's the only trace left. Infantile paralysis is a terrible thing, isn't it?"

The teacher agreed that it was and silently thanked her stars that she had not gone to that home complaining but to search for the root of a difficulty that she might help.

Whenever a teacher finds that a child has a fault, or suffers from a condition that does not yield to the school influence and training, a home visit is indicated. The attitude of the visitor is of the utmost importance. No mother is going to welcome a complaining visitor. Go cheerfully and have a good word for the child on the end of your tongue. Find something right about him if it is only the color of his hair. Praise him. Never find fault. Listen to what the mother says. Study her and the home background for the clue.

Don't visit a home as a helpful missionary. Go as a friend. When you see a chance to offer help, and this is rarely possible on a first visit, do so. But first make yourself a welcome guest. The rest will follow.

BIG BRITISH VICTORY

On Sept. 22, 1918, British troops located in Asia Minor scored one of the biggest victories of its campaign. The Turkish army between the Jordan and the Mediterranean was virtually wiped out, the British advancing 60 miles from their original positions. At the end of the advance the troops held Nazareth, El Afula and Beisan.

In a heated battle, British and Greek troops in the Balkans engaged Germans and Bulgars on a front of 90 miles near Pripel. This was the start of an encounter that was to last for several days.

Bulgaria was reported to have opened peace negotiations with the allies, but this rumor was put to naught by German authorities.

CLUB INVITES TALL CITIZENS AS MEMBERS

Several prominent Orange county citizens, satisfying the height requirement of six feet, will be extended invitations to become honorary members of the Longfellow club at Santa Ana Junior college, it was announced today.

With President Doug McAdams presiding last night at the club's first meeting of the new term, the Longfellows instructed Art Casey, corresponding secretary, to send special membership invitations to Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools; Logan Jackson, county sheriff; Bill Sylvester, former political candidate; Walter Swanberger and E. M. ("Sunny") Sundquist, Santa Ana business men; John ("Sky") Dunlap, former president, and George Farquhar, junior college midge, will be considered honorary members. Other county citizens, it was reported, will receive invitations at a future date.

This junior college organization, one of several United States chapters, will enter its bicycle act in the Halloween parade at Anaheim this year, and plans to prepare a float for the county Armistice day celebration, in which the Longfellows won third prize with their bicycle stunt in 1931. Having won first with a float in the Halloween celebration at Anaheim two years ago, the club believes its bicycle act, with slight variations from last year, will bring new honors next month.

"Derby Day," one of the oldest of club traditions, will be continued during 1932-33. Members will wear their derbies to college every other Wednesday. Another fashion show, to which the public will be invited, is being planned, according to McAdams, and will be presented soon in a regular college assembly.

Committee working on the parade and assembly programs are, for the parade, Al Copeland, chairman; Raymond McCall and Paul Hauptert; and for the assemblies, Carl Bower, chairman; Art Casey and Malcolm Richards.

Milton V. Newcomer, faculty adviser, was present at the regular meeting, along with President McAdams, Chester Cook, Al Copeland, Raymond McCall, Burton Alloway, Malcolm Richards, Paul Hauptert, Carl Bower, Russell Harrington and Paul Wright, newly-elected secretary.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 22.—With the conclusion of the summer season it is no longer necessary to make reservations at the city park picnic grounds, it was announced today from the city clerk's office. Reservations will still be necessary, however, for large picnics.

SON OF PIONEER MINISTER OF ORANGE COUNTY TAKES ACTIVE PART IN COMING CONVENTION

For Orange county delegates to the Pacific Slope Congregational Congress, which assembles in San Diego October 4, 5 and 6, there will be more than the usual amount of interest attached to the sessions, as the Rev. Fred Field Goodsell, D. D., of Boston, Mass., one of the principal speakers of the Congress, is the son of an early day Orange county minister.

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the Santa Ana Congregational church, and chairman of the committee on registration and attendance, recalled this morning that the Rev. Mr. Goodsell's father was a former pastor of the old Westminster Congregational church. When the elder Rev. Mr. Goodsell filled the pastorate at Westminster that community was the leading one in the county and Santa Ana was a small settlement. The Congregational church in Westminster then was the only church of that denomination in the entire county.

Dr. Goodsell, in his address scheduled for October 5, the second day of the congress, will speak on the topic "Missions in the Crucible." This will be a discussion, according to the Rev. Mr. Schrock, of the entire foreign mission question and will bring up the question, "Should the United States cease exporting 'Religion'?"

Discussion following Dr. Goodsell's address will be led by the Rev. Lawrence A. Wilson of the Pioneer church, Sacramento, and chaplain of the California legislative assembly.

Dr. Goodsell's title is executive vice president of the mission board. He is the first incumbent of the position which was created two years ago after the example of large corporations in having a vice president for general oversight and centralized responsibility. He had served for 22 years as a missionary in the Near East where he had become highly esteemed by the various governments as an educational leader.

GRID BATTLE BROADCAST ON KREG TONIGHT

Presenting their first of the new college year programs, the Santa Ana Junior college will broadcast over KREG tonight a football rally program in recognition of their meeting with the U. S. C. fresh tomorrow afternoon in the Olympic stadium.

MANY ATTEND COUNTY P.-T.A. SESSION HERE

Round table discussions of such matters of general interest as programs, membership, publications, finance and budgeting, and publicity, engaged the attention of P.-T. A. members from all parts of Orange county (Fourth district) this morning as a climax to a program of unusual interest with which the sessions of the Fourth District school of instruction opened at 8 o'clock in Santa Ana First Presbyterian church, with the Santa Ana city P.-T. A. council, Mrs. Roy Beall, president, as hostess group.

Approximately 200 educators were assembled for the sessions conducted by Mrs. R. W. Marvin, Anaheim, president of the district. Their interest in all matters pertaining to childhood and its problems of home or school, found expression in the close attention given to each feature of the program as it was introduced.

To Mrs. J. D. Campbell, legislative chairman, was assigned the task of outlining some of the legislation now pending, which is of special importance to association workers. She devoted her morning talk to the main, to the trust deed amendment, introducing Homer Chaney, assistant trust officer of Santa Ana First National bank, to elucidate its terms for the audience; and that proposal which will work to divert school taxes to the state.

Parent Education
Introduction of Dr. Regina H. Westcott-Wieman of Los Angeles, gave to the association members, their first contact with the new regional director of parental education, successor to Dr. Gertrude Laws in the southern field.

Dr. Westcott-Wieman proved a woman of rare personal charm and magnetism, and opinions were freely expressed as to her essential fitness to carry on the work handed on capably by Dr. Laws. Her talk was thought-provoking as she pointed out that the country is facing the necessity of learning how to think, and that two courses are now open to the people of the United States, either a passive acceptance of existing conditions, or a forceful swinging into a program of actual reconstruction.

The address was interlarded with humor, and there wasn't a parent or a teacher in the audience, but who so willingly agreed with her statement that "no two children are alike, and no child is alike twice."

Santa Ana City Council members were hostesses at the luncheon with which this morning's session concluded at the noon hour. Business affairs of the conference were resumed shortly after 1 o'clock, following community singing.

Afternoon Speakers
Mrs. W. A. Price of Los Angeles, junior past president of the California congress of Parents and Teachers, was to be the first afternoon speaker on the subject, "The Relation of the Local to District, State and National."

A feature of the program was to be a model business meeting coupled with parliamentary drill and general discussion, with Mrs. C. H. Turner of Redondo Beach, first vice president in the state association, directing the features.

Among business matters of the day's session, was the naming of several new committee chairmen and workers. These included Mrs. Hilred Crawford, now of Santa Ana, program committee; Mrs. M. M. Manges, Fullerton, historian; Mrs. Merrill Hollingsworth, Santa Ana, parental education; Mrs. Ruth Walden, Seal Beach, art; Mrs. Russell Johnson, Midway City, rural education, and Mrs. Irene Morris, La Habra, recreation. The November district meeting scheduled for the third Thursday in the month, was changed, instead to the first Friday, November 4, in order not to conflict with the state board meeting dates. It will be held in Tustin as first announced.

Spanish Village Merchant Given Bogus $20 Bill

SAN CLEMENTE, Sept. 22.—Counterfeit bills are again being circulated along the coastline, according to Paul Adair, proprietor of the San Clemente grocery. Tuesday, when Adair checked over his receipts for Monday, he found that a $20 bill he had received was counterfeit.

Adair said that the bill was passed on him by a man of middle age who was wearing a brown suit and a brown hat. He said the man was of medium height and was stout. The passer of the counterfeit money entered the store and purchased 75 cents' worth of meat.

The $20 bill was of the new size currency. It had a picture of President Jackson on it and was numbered A-2079749-A.
